TO HEAR ALIENISTS' TESTIMONY

JUDGE CAVERLY OVERRULES THE STATE'S STAND

Court Decides Defense May Show State Of Mind Of Leopold And Loeb--Crowe Vigorously Objects.

Associated Press)

CHICAGO July 30—The state today closed and the defense started testimony in the hearing which is to determine the punishment of Nathan Leopold jr, and Richard Loeb, for the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks

Frank A Sheer was the last witness for the state He testified merely that he took Loeb's confession the night of May 30

The defense called as its first witness Dr William Alanson White, superintendent of St Elizabeth's hospital Washington, D C

Judge Caverly overruled an objection by State's Attorney Robert E Crowe to testimony by any defense alienists

If your honor gave these defendants a term of years satisfactory to them and their attorneys argued Mr Crowe I could not appeal and they would not I insist if this question of insanity is raised it is your honor's duty to impanel a jury and determine that fact

Judge Caverly shook his head and said Overruled but Mr Crowe continued on the argument on the legal point he had raised

During the argument Judge Caverly declared that the defense would not be permitted to go into evidence of insanity and demanded to know from the state whether it had any authorities to show that would prevent him from hearing evidence as to the state of mind or in mitigation

After the argument had lasted ninety minutes and gotten back to the state's accusation that the defense was trying to plead both sane and insane at the same time Walter Bachrach suggested that an hour and a half had been wasted

No said Judge Caverly it has not been wasted The court will take a day and a half on this if necessary

The afternoon session of the Franks case convened at 2 08

Courtroom Fills Rapidly

The court room filled rapidly this morning for the seventh session of the hearing of Nathan Leopold jr and Richard Loeb kidnaper slayers of Robert Franks spectators expecting startling and dramatic events

Far more persons clamored for admission than could gain entrance under Judge John R Caverly's strict injunction that no one should be allowed to come in after all the seats were filled

The defendants came in to the room with their customary morning smiles for their attorneys and relatives

Frank A Sheer a shorthand reporter who took Loeb's confession was called by the state and testified to that fact and the state rested

Judge Caverly called the attorneys to the bench and consulted with them as to separate hearings on the kidnaping charge It developed that thus far the hearing had technically been confined to the murder charge The attorneys agreed that thirty minutes of formalities would suffice to dispose of the kidnaping indictment

Dr White Called

Dr William A White of Washington D C then was called to the stand as first witness for the defense He was questioned by Walter Bachrach of defense counsel and stated his name residence age and profession

State your professional experience said Mr Bachrach

I object said Mr Crowe

Why asked Judge Caverly and the big legal fight of the proceedings was on

Because said Mr Crowe the plea of guilty estops an plea of insanity

It is overruled said Judge Caverly

Have we reached the point where a man can plead guilty to avoid a trial by jury asked Mr Crowe Does the defense here desire a trial before one man when they have resisted a trial before twelve?

Judge Gives Reasons

Listen to me a moment said Judge Caverly If a defendant came into this court without counsel and pleaded guilty to a crime the court would have the right to appoint alienists to inform him whether that defendant was competent to plead guilty I did in fact adopt that very course in a very recent case and it

(Associated Press)

LANCASTER Mass July 30—After a night of disorders and clashes in which scores were injured a crowd of men who had engaged in a night of hostilities with members and spectators at a Ku Klux Klan meeting in a field near here were dispersed with the arrival of additional patrolmen today Between 500 and 800 men engaged in the fighting during the night

The list of injured included five men whose injuries were so serious to require treatment in hospitals One was a patrolman who was struck on the head by a stone

Automobiles Wrecked

Many others are known to have been hurt by clubs flying stones and other missiles Two automobiles were partly demolished by showers of stones and missiles

Paul Kittredge of Clinton is suffering from forty wounds believed to have been caused by rock salt discharged from a gun He is expected to recover

Roy Grover of Clinton one of the injured when taken to a hospital was believed to be suffering from a broken back but it was found that his injuries was less serious and later he was discharged from the hospital

The hostilities which broke out last night when 300 klansmen friends and spectators assembled in a field near here which they had rented only to be beleaguered by a crowd of between 300 and 500 men came as a culmination of bitter feeling for some time

While the fighting was beginning here a similar outbreak occurred in Spencer several miles away when a crowd showered with stones cars carrying persons away from a Ku Klux Klan meeting there

State police dispersed the crowd and arrested five men At Westminster near here a third meeting was held but without disorders

Two Clashes Occur

Two clashes took place here during the night between the crowd within the field and those outside Rocks were thrown and a shotgun apparently loaded with rock salt was fired

As the night wore on the police handicapped by their lack of numbers the scattered position of the combatants and the darkness were able only to keep the road clear

When dawn broke 150 men still remained in the road outside the field and a similar number of men were within the field But with the coming of morning the crowd in the road was gradually broke up

Driveway Dispute Is Ended In Court

Trouble starting over the attempted removal of a partnership driveway ended in Justice Stevens court Tuesday when Charles Durham was found not guilty of a charge of assault and battery brought by his next door neighbor Floyd Barnes

The case when tried was found to hinge upon one point whether the driveway had been removed without the consent of both parties

Barnes claimed it had not and wanted to tear it up as he had started to do when the trouble started

Durham claimed it had been in place more than ten years in which case his resistance of Barnes attempt would merely have been the protection of his own property

Judge Stevens ruled that it had been in place more than ten years and that the tussle instead of being assault and battery was merely the right of protection of property

IS NOT IN FAVOR OF DEFENSE DAY

Governor Of Colorado Not To Order Mobilization Of Guard.

LOVELAND Col July 30 — Declaring he would co operate with President Coolidge as far as he deems it proper but declaring unequivocally that he would not order the mobilization of the Colorado national guard on national defense day, September 12 Governor Sweet in an interview with the Loveland Herald Reporter went on record in opposition to the idea of the observance of the day

I will co operate with the president of the United States as far as I deem it proper but to mobilize the national guard at this time following closely upon their demobilization from summer camp would be sheer folly and to ask civilians especially farmers to take part in the national defense day programs during their busiest season of the year would be asking them to shoulder an undue burden the governor was quoted as saying

MANY ENDORSE BRYAN STAND

Telegrams, Letters and Telephone Messages Pour Into Governor's Office In Approval of His Attitude On Defense Day.

STILL THINKS WAR DEPARTMENT WRONG

Communication to Adjutant Authorizes Participation of State's Military Units in Maneuvers and Practice Work.

Numerous telegrams letters and telephone messages have been received by Governor Bryan endorsing his refusal to carry out in full the recommendation of federal war department for national defense test day September 12 The senders of these messages agree with Mr Bryan that the demonstration as planned would be a militaristic gesture out of keeping with the peaceful disposition of the American people and likely to cause other nations to increase their armaments

The governor still feels that there is some misunderstanding between President Coolidge and the war department as to just what the program for mobilization or defense test day contemplates He is writing a letter to the president which may be given out later for publication calling attention to a number of paragraphs in the war department's orders promulgated through General Duncan of Omaha commander of the Seventh army corps area a copy of which is in the governor's possession

Mr Bryan has also drafted and sent to Adjutant General Paul of the Nebraska national guard a communication authorizing the participation of all military units under state jurisdiction in maneuvers and practice work planned for mobilization day A copy of this letter will also be forwarded to President Coolidge

Objects To Including Citizens

Among the features of General Duncan's order heretofore published in part to which Governor Bryan takes exception is a clause calling for the mobilization of state and local agencies that would normally be used for the procurement under either a voluntary or selective service system

He also disagrees with the intent of the war department as expressed

STONE SUES TO CANCEL LEASES

Government Wants to Remand Prospecting Permits On Indian Lands.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON July 30—The government Tuesday developed another phase of its effort to clear up the oil lease situation

Attorney General Stone issued orders for the filing of a suit to cancel an oil and gas prospecting lease applying to a reservation created by executive order for the Navajo Indian nation in southern Utah If the government is successful in this suit it will take similar action to invalidate twenty other such permits eighteen of which were granted by former Secretary Fall of the interior department and which apply to Indian lands in a dozen different western localities

The suit ordered filed is against E M Harrison the Midwest Oil Co and the Southwest Oil Co and is based on an opinion recently submitted by the attorney general to the president in which he held that Mr Fall's construction of the general leasing act of 1920 was in error when it applied the oil leasing provisions to reservations created by executive order Mr Fall's interpretation of the provision was given upon application for a lease by Mr Harrison said here to be an official of the Midwest company and under that construction of the law the other permits also were granted

Court Decides Defense May Show State Of Mind Of Leopold And Loeb--Crowe Vigorously Objects.

CHICAGO, July 30.—The state today closed, and the defense started testimony in the hearing which is to determine the punishment of Nathan Leopold, jr., and Richard Loeb, for the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks.

Frank A. Sheer was the last witness for the state. He testified merely that he took Loeb's confession the night of May 30.

The defense called as its first witness Dr. William Alanson White, superintendent of St. Elizabeth's hospital, Washington, D. C.

Judge Caverly overruled an objection by State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe to testimony by any defense alienists.

The defendants came in to the the room with their customary morning smiles for their attorneys and relatives.

Frank A. Sheer, a shorthand reporter, who took Loeb's confession, was called by the state and testified to that fact and the state rested.

Judge Caverly called the attorneys to the bench and consulted with them as to separate hearings on the kidnaping charge. It developed that thus far the hearing had technically been confined to the murder charge. The attorneys agreed that thirty minutes of formalities would suffice to dispose of the kidnaping indictment.

Dr. White Called.

Dr. William A. White of Washington, D. C., then was called to the stand as first witness for the defense. He was questioned by Walter Bachrach of defense counsel, and stated his name, residence, age and profession.

"State your professional experience," said Mr. Bachrach.

"I object," said Mr. Crowe.

"Why?" asked Judge Caverly, and the big legal fight of the proceedings was on.

SCORES HURT IN KLAN CLASH

Crowd Of Hundreds Of Men Engaged In Night Battle Near Lancaster, Massachusetts, Finally Dispersed.

MANY ARE INJURED BY FLYING MISSILES

Hostilities Started When Group Surrounds Meeting Of Invisible Empire In Field—Second Outbreak Nearby.

(Associated Press.)

LANCASTER, Mass., July 30—After a night of disorders and clashes in which scores were injured, a crowd of men who had engaged in a night of hostilities with members and spectators at a Ku Klux Klan meeting in a field near here, were dispersed with the arrival of additional patrolmen today. Between 500 and 800 men engaged in the fighting during the night.

The list of injured included five men whose injuries were so serious to require treatment in hospitals. One was a patrolman, who was struck on the head by a stone.

Automobiles Wrecked.

Many others are known to have been hurt by clubs, flying stones and other missiles. Two automobiles were partly demolished by showers of stones and missiles.

Paul Kittredge of Clinton, is suffering from forty wounds, believed to have been caused by rock salt discharged from a gun. He is expected to recover.

Roy Grover of Clinton, one of the injured, when taken to a hospital was believed to be suffering from a broken back, but it was found that his injuries was less serious, and later he was discharged from the hospital.

The hostilities which broke out last night when 300 klansmen, friends and spectators, assembled in a field near here which they had rented ,only to be beleaguered by a crowd of between 300 and 500 men, came as a culmination of bitter feeling for some time.

While the fighting was beginning here, a similar outbreak occurred in Spencer, several miles away, when a crowd showered with stones, cars carrying persons away from a Ku Klux Klan meeting there.

State police dispersed the crowd and arrested five men. At Westminster, near here, a third meeting was held but without disorders.

Two Clashes Occur.

Two clashes took place here during the night between the crowd within the field and those outside. Rocks were thrown and a shotgun, apparently loaded with rock salt, was fired.

As the night wore on, the police, handicapped by their lack of numbers, the scattered position of the combatants and the darkness were able only to keep the road clear.

When dawn broke 150 men still remained in the road outside the field and a similar number of men were within the field. But with the coming of morning the crowd in the road way gradually broke up.

Driveway Dispute Is Ended In Court

Trouble starting over the attempted removal of a "partnership driveway" ended in Justice Stevens' court Tuesday when Charles Durham was found not guilty of a charge of assault and battery brought by his next door neighbor, Floyd Barnes.

The case, when tried, was found to hinge upon one point: whether the driveway had been removed without the consent of both parties.

Barnes claimed it had not and wanted to tear it up, as he had started to do when the trouble started.

Durham claimed it had been in place more than ten years, in which case his resistance of Barnes' attempt would merely have been the protection of his own property.

Judge Stevens ruled that it had been in place more than ten years and that the tussle, instead of being assault and battery was merely the right of protection of property.

Call Reserves In Prison Riot In New Jersey

(Associated Press.)

RAHWAY, N. J., July 30—Police reserves from Rahway and Woodbridge were called to the Rahway reformatory this afternoon to quell a riot among the prisoners.

Three inmates were shot, one possibly fatally, and one guard was injured.

The disturbance started in the dining hall and spread through out the open sections of the reformatory.

According to officials of the institution, which is a boys' reformatory, housing 800 youths, eighty of whom are negroes, the trouble started Monday night, over a remark made by a negro boy to a white boy. The latter carried the fight to the yard where his brother sided with him and for a time a race war threatened.

At noon today the trouble broke out again, the fight became general, dishes were thrown, tables overturned and smashed and parts of them used for weapons.

BALDWIN ASSERTS A PERFECT ALIBI

Omaha Policeman Charged With Robbery Says Unfairly Treated.

OMAHA, July 30.—Preliminary hearing for Clifford Baldwin, motorcycle policeman, who was formally charged with robbery today in connection with the holdup of the State Bank of Irvington, April 29, was scheduled before County Judge George Bryce Crawford late today.

Baldwin said he felt satisfied the court would order his release on the strength of an alibi he will endeavor to prove.

"If April 29; between 10:30 and 11 a. m. was the time of the robbery, I can easily prove my alibi," declared Baldwin in the county jail.

"At exactly that time," he said, "I was with my wife on a shopping tour and between 10:30 and 11 a. m. we were in a store near Sixteenth and Douglas streets to pay a bill. Luckily, I kept the receipted bill, which shows the time the bill was paid.'

Baldwin charged that Chief of Police Van Deusen had not been fair with him when John Bleick, 9 year old Irvington lad, identified him as one of the four bank robbers.

"When the boy was brought into the court rooh I heard Van Deusen say to the boy: 'Now see if you can pick out the big blonde fellow who drove the car.' Being the only 'big blonde fellow' in the line, the boy came right over to me."

IS NOT IN FAVOR OF DEFENSE DAY

Governor Of Colorado Not To Order Mobilization Of Guard.

LOVELAND, Col., July 30. — Declaring he would co-operate with President Coolidge as far as he deems it proper, but declaring unequivocally that he would not order the mobilization of the Colorado national guard os national defense day, September 12, Governor Sweet, in an interview with the Loveland Herald-Reporter, went on record in opposition to the idea of the observance of the day.

"I will co-operate with the president of the United States as far as I deem it proper, but to mobilize the national guard at this time following closely upon their demobilization from summer camp, would be sheer folly, and to ask civilians, especially farmers, to take part in the national defense day programs during their busiest season of the year would be asking them to shoulder an undue burden," the governor was quoted as saying.

SEES PROSPERITY FOR CORN STATES

Statistical Expert Declares Outlook Bright In Farming Areas.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 30.—The corn states can look forward to a distinct improvement in business, declared George E. MacIlwain of the Babson statistical organization before the convention of the Interstate Merchants Council here Tuesday.

"Business will be better this fall than it has been in the last six months and in some places better than it was last fall," said Mrs. MacIlwain.

"In states where there is a good wheat crop there will be a distinct improvement in business, and in the good corn states it will be even more noticeable."

Speakers before the council included Paul Davis, Waterloo, Ia., and Fred Anderson, Cozad, Neb.

MANY ENDORSE BRYAN STAND

Telegrams, Letters and Telephone Messages Pour Into Governor's Office In Approval of His Attitude On Defense Day.

STILL THINKS WAR DEPARTMENT WRONG

Communication to Adjutant Authorizes Participation of State's Military Units in Maneuvers and Practice Work.

Numerous telegrams, letters and telephone messages have been received by Governor Bryan endorsing his refusal to carry out in full the recmomendation of federal war department for national "defense test day," September 12. The senders of these messages agree with Mr. Bryan that the demonstration as planned would be a militaristic gesture out of keeping with the peaceful disposition of the American people and likely to cause other nations to increase their armaments.

The governor still feels that there is some misunderstanding between Presient Coolidge and the war department as to just what the program for mobilization, or defense test day, contemplates. He is writing a letter to the president, which may be given out later for publication, calling attention to a number of paragraphs in the war department's orders promulgated through General Duncan of Omaha, commander of the Seventh army corps area, a copy of which is in the governor's possession.

Mr. Bryan has also drafted and sent to Adjutant General Paul of the Nebraska national guard a communication authorizing the participation of all military units under state jurisdiction in maneuvers and practice work planned for mobilization day. A copy of this letter will also be forwarded to President Coolidge.

Objects To Including Citizens.

Among the features of General Duncan's order, heretofore published in part, to which Governor Bryan takes exception, is a clause calling for the mobilization of state and local agencies that would normally be used "for the procurement under either a voluntary or selective service system."

He also disagrees with the intent of the war department, as expressed

STONE SUES TO CANCEL LEASES

Government Wants to Remand Prospecting Permits On Indian Lands.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The government Tuesday developed another phase of its effort to clear up the oil lease situation.

Attorney General Stone issued orders for the filing of a suit to cancel an oil and gas prospecting lease applying to a reservation created by executive order for the Navajo Indian nation in southern Utah. If the government is successful in this suit, it will take similar action to invalidate twenty other such permits, eighteen of which were granted by former Secretary Fall of the interior department, and which apply to Indian lands in a dozen different western localities.

The suit ordered filed is against E. M. Harrison, the Midwest Oil Co., and the Southwest Oil Co., and is based on an opinion recently submitted by the attorney general to the president in which he held that Mr. Fall's construction of the general leasing act of 1920, was in error when it applied the oil leasing provisions to reservations created by executive order. Mr. Fall's interpretation of the provision was given upon application for a lease by Mr. Harrison, said here to be an official of the Midwest company, and under that construction of the law the other permits also were granted.

Hebling, 30, who came to town, attained some social promience, frequented an exclusive club, and then disappeared, leaving, it is alleged $2,000 in debts and some bad checks, but no forwarding address. T. G. Beebe of the business men's reference bureau who obtained a position for Hebling, was among the alleged victims.

DAVIS PREPARES TO LEAVE MAINE

Democratic Nominee Ready To Open Intensive Campaign Drive.

Has Completed Draft Of Acceptance Address To Be Delivered Soon.

(Associated Press.)

DARK HARBOR, Me., July 30.—After two weeks in the peace and quiet of the Penobscot bay islands, John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, will start back to New York late today to begin the drive that is to carry his political fortunes into the November elections.

In his pocket is the draft of his acceptance address, the product of his labors in Maine and his all important utterances of the campaign. It will be delivered ten days hence at Clarksburg, probably from the veranda of the Davis homestead where his sister now resides. While embodied in it will be a discussion of many issues, the speech's central theme will be "Honesty in Government," the 1924 battle cry of the democrats.

Next in importance will be the discussion of foreign affairs. His friends say the democratic candidate will attack the record of the Harding Coolidge administration. Of little less import will be the discussion of agricultural relief. Mr. Davis is described by those who are most intimately acquainted with his ideas as inclined to be very liberal in the treament of the subject and they would not be surprised if he goes a step farther than does the democratic platform.

IS ACCUSED OF STOCK FRAUD

Frank Thompson, Who Recently Won Reversal Of Conviction in Lancaster County, Expected to Fight Return to Iowa.

Extradition papers were issued by Governor Bryan Wednesday for the removal of Frank Thompson to Iowa, where he will face a charge of misrepresentation and fraud. It is possible that Thompson will fight extradition and will demand a hearing in the courts.

According to the papers brought by Deputy Sheriff Frank Middaugh of Keokuk county, Iowa, Thompson is said to have sold $1,000 of stock to Frank Ollinger, of Sigourney, Ia., on the representation that it would pay 15 per cent and would in time increase in value 1,000 per cent.

The stock is said to have been in the Midcontinental Oil, Gas & Refining Co., which, Thompson is said to have claimed, had seven producing wells. The transaction is said to have been in 1920.

Thompson was convicted in Lancaster county of obtaining money by false pretenses, also in connection with Midcontinent stock. His conviction was reevrsed and the case against him dismissed by the state Supreme court, which declared that no fraud had been shown.

Suit for $50,000 was recently brought by Thompson against Allen McLean of University Place, and his son, the former being the prosecuting witness in the case against Thompson.

DEBS REPLIES TO 'RED' CANDIDATE

Warns Foster Communists Will Cut Sorry Figure; Stands by La Follette.

CHICAGO, July 30.—Eugene V. Debs, in a letter made public last night, replied to the attack made by William Z. Foster, workers' party nominee for the presidency, on his, (Debs), intention to support the candidacy of Robert M. La Follette.

Debs' letter states that he is "unable to understand why you (Foster) should conclude that it will come as a shock to thousands of workers.

"I can readily understand," the letter said, "why it would have suited you far better had the socialist party ended its career at Cleveland and disappeared from the scene or remained dissevered to cut as sorry and discrediting a fgure as the communist party will in the campaign this year."

Debs said that the communists were prepared to endorse La Follette at St. Paul and would have done so," had not La Follette publicly denounced them."

In conclusion, the letter of the several times socialist nominee for the presidency says:

"You may be right in your opinion . . . and I may be wrong as I have often been before. Having no vatican in Moscow to guide me, I must follow the light I have, and this I have done in the present instance."

FLIERS ARRIVE AT KIRKWALL FROM BROUGH

American Airmen Reach Orkney Islands On Homeward Journey After Jump From British Village.

(Associated Press.)

KIRKWALL, Orkney Island, Scotland, July 30. — The American round-the-world fliers on their way homeward, arrived here today from Brough, England, at 4:10 this afternoon.

Leave Late In Morning.

BROUGH, Eng., July 30—The American army aviators, continuing their world flight, hopped off at 10:24 o'clock this morning for Kirkwall, capital of the Orkney islands, off the northern coast of Scotland.

Thus began the first leg of their journey over the Atlantic by way of Iceland and Greenland, to Indian Harbor, Laborador.

Kirkwall, a town of 3,500 is situated on Houton bay, on the northeastern side of the Island of Mainland, sometimes caled Pomona, the largest of the Orkney group. Stores of oil and gasoline await the fliers there, and towboats ad repair men are ready in case they are needed.

In Best of Spirits.

The six men were all in the best health and spirits and confident that the success which has brought them 18,000 miles on their pioneering flight will not desert them during the last stage of their endeavor.

Before leaving the ground Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, the flight commander, said he expected to reach Kirkwall in about six hours and that the departure from that place would take place tomorrow or Friday. There were no official ceremonies at the send-off.

There were no British or American officials present at the take-off. It is understood they will make their farewells to the airmen at Kirkwall, where it is expected six British planes will act as an escort to their American brother airmen.

Whole Village Out.

Brough is a tiny village but practically everybody in it turned out and stood by from long before daybreak until the aviators finally winged away from the town where they had been such welcome guests.

Some of the spectators had come from Robinson Crusoe's old town of Hull, nearby and many other Yorkshire villagers were represented in the crowd.

Pressed for a statement to his countrymen, the flight commander said:

"Tell them are very anxious to see them; the quicker the better for us. We are confident we shall achieve the rest of the trip. I think we have been over rougher spots already than we shall encounter here. I mean our Alaska experiences and crossing the North Pacific.

Await Fliers' Arrival.

Central Western Hay Markets Are Remaining Steady

Hay markets of the United States averaged steady during last week, says the weekly review made public Wednesday by the federal department of agriculture.

"Arrivals at eastern markets were more than sufficient to meet the buyers' needs and the market was weaker," says the report. "Central with light receipts and in the southwest where the pressure of field work cut down country shipments, the market was firm with slightly advanced prices."

The report continues:

"Alfalfa and grain hay on the Pacific coast was very firm due to the drouth in that section. The best grades of hay were wanted but poor hay was in excess and sold at discount.

"The demand continued light. The new crop was late, making it necessary to feed old hay for a longer period than usual, but the season was favorable for pasture growth, largely cutting the demand for hay from country districts and restricting it to city and industrial trade. Pastures mostly remained in good condition except in the drouth stricken areas of the Pacific coast, although drouth and short pastures are now reported from Mississippi, Louisiana, southern Texas and some mountain states. The hay crop will be reduced in these sections and northern New England and the second cutting of alfalfa in Utah and Nevada will be short on account of lack of moisture, though irrigation water in Colorado is holding out well in most sections. In other regions the hay crop made a good growth, but it was weedy in some sections and over a wide area rain at harvest interfered with proper curing, which would indicate a reduction in the amount of the best quality hay.

"Timothy prices averaged lower as additional markets changed to a new crop basis. The movement of the new crop increased and new offerings are reported at Boston. Prices of the new crop were reported as $2.50 to $3.00 below the old at Cincinnati. Low grade and weedy hay continued plentiful and hard to move.

"Alfalfa prices advanced slightly in the southwest on light receipts. The demand from the south increased and mills were active buyers, while brown hay was taken by feeders. California markets were strong and some alfalfa was being shipped from Puget Sound to Atlantic coast markets by boat. Receipts of prairie hay were light and the market was firm. Stock yards and shippers were the principal buyers, although warehouses were anxious to get prairie hay for storage."

Says Need 15,000 Men to Harvest Northern Crops

The enormous crops in the northern states will require 15,000 men for harvesting, William Blonder, agricultural development agent of the Great Northern Railway with headquarters in Omaha, stated Wednesday. The wheat and small grain crops are practically made, he said, and farmers are getting from 10 to 15 cents more a bushel for their spring hard northern No. 1 grain than those of the winter wheat districts.

"Business men are elated, as the price of the grain has revived business in every direction," declared Mr. Blonder.

The Lincoln U. S. Employment service at 1031 N street, in charge of Charles W. Boles, is co-operating with the government representatives in the northern states to supply the labor needed. The Great Northern has made special rates to all points in Minnesota, and North Dakota for harvesters, Mr. Blonder said.

"Corn in Minnesota and North Dakota, while a little late, has made wonderful progress and looks very good," he continued. "The potato crop is splendid with a very large acreage. The flax crop, larger than any of the last three or four years, is good, and the farmers are making good prices.

"A number of settlers are going into Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana looking for land that can be secured at about $30 to $50 an acre on easy terms.

CHARGES FRAUDS IN SUGAR PRICES

La Follette Attacks Two Administrations On Investigation Issue.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—By way of a demand upon the United States tariff commission for information as to what it has been doing in sugar investigations, Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president, Tuesday promulgated a declaration which impartially attacked both the present republican and the preceding democratic administrations.

The commission, which has power to recommend upward or downward movements of tariffs, the senator said he had "reason believe," had been delayed by representatives of sugar interests in submitting a report from an investigation into costs of sugar production. He reminded the public in this connection of fluctuations in sugar prices during recent years, which instanced, he asserted, some "control" even of the government by sugar producing and distributing interests.

Aged Man Declares Companion Drove Off, Leaving Him On Highway.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 30.—Officers are looking for Mrs. Blanche White, 28, Goff, Kas., who disappeared this morning on the Goldenrod highway, eight miles west of Beatrice with a Ford touring car, said to belong to G. W. Jordan, 80, also of Goff, Kansas, with whom she was driving to North Dakata for a visie. One hundred dollars in cash which was in his pocketbook in a coat went with the car.

According to Jordan they stopped to get a drink at a farm house and while he was at the well, he charges, she drove away with the machine. He says Mr. and Mrs. White are tenants on his farm near Goff and that he and Mrs. White left that place yesterday, arriving at Wymore last evening.

From there they drove north and west to the farm where she disappeared with the car. Mr. Jordan states that according to her conversation with him she intends to leave her husband and four small children.

Jordan is a civil war veteran and reached here this morning, having hired an autoist to drive him to Beatrice. He was left on the highway without a penny. He has telephoned a bank for funds with which to take him home.

Test Nebraska Alfalfa Seed For Australia

Nebraska grown alfalfa seed is being tested out in Australia. Lucerne or alfalfa seed from Chadron and Oshkosh sent to New South Wales was so satisfactory that the agricultural and stock department of the Province of Hobart has ordered sme additional seed for further experimentatin. The Farmers' Union store of Scottsbluff will furnish the seed and the laboratories of Lincoln will test it for purity and germination.

Other tests on Nebraska grown seed are being conducted by L. C. Walker at Flinders Island, on the Kameruka estate in New South Wales and by Searle and Son, Sydney.

Central Western Hay Markets Are Remaining Steady

Hay markets of the United States averaged steady during last week, says the weekly review made public Wednesday by the federal department of agriculture.

"Arrivals at eastern markets were more than sufficient to meet the buyers' needs and the market was weaker," says the report. "Central with light receipts and in the southwest where the pressure of field work cut down country shipments, the market was firm with slightly advanced prices."

The report continues:

"Alfalfa and grain hay on the Pacific coast was very firm due to the drouth in that section. The best grades of hay were wanted but poor hay was in excess and sold at discount.

"The demand continued light. The new crop was late, making it necessary to feed old hay for a longer period than usual, but the season was favorable for pasture growth, largely cutting the demand for hay from country districts and restricting it to city and industrial trade. Pastures mostly remained in good condition except in the drouth stricken areas of the Pacific coast, although drouth and short pastures are now reported from Mississippi, Louisiana, southern Texas and some mountain states. The hay crop will be reduced in these sections and northern New England and the second cutting of alfalfa in Utah and Nevada will be short on account of lack of moisture, though irrigation water in Colorado is holding out well in most sections. In other regions the hay crop made a good growth, but it was weedy in some sections and over a wide area rain at harvest interfered with proper curing, which would indicate a reduction in the amount of the best quality hay.

"Timothy prices averaged lower as additional markets changed to a new crop basis. The movement of the new crop increased and new offerings are reported at Boston. Prices of the new crop were reported as $2.50 to $3.00 below the old at Cincinnati. Low grade and weedy hay continued plentiful and hard to move.

"Alfalfa prices advanced slightly in the southwest on light receipts. The demand from the south increased and mills were active buyers, while brown hay was taken by feeders. California markets were strong and some alfalfa was being shipped from Puget Sound to Atlantic coast markets by boat. Receipts of prairie hay were light and the market was firm. Stock yards and shippers were the principal buyers, although warehouses were anxious to get prairie hay for storage."

Says Need 15,000 Men to Harvest Northern Crops

The enormous crops in the northern states will require 15,000 men for harvesting, William Blonder, agricultural development agent of the Great Northern Railway with headquarters in Omaha, stated Wednesday. The wheat and small grain crops are practically made, he said. and farmers are getting from 10 to 15 cents more a bushel for their spring hard northern No. 1 grain than those of the winter wheat districts.

"Business men are elated, as the price of the grain has revived business in every direction," declared Mr. Blonder.

The Lincoln U. S. Employment service at 1031 N street, in charge of Charles W. Boles, is co-operating with the government representatives in the northern states to supply the labor needed. The Great Northern has made special rates to all points in Minnesota, and North Dakota for harvesters, Mr. Blonder said.

"Corn in Minnesota and North Dakota, while a little late, has made wonderful progress and looks very good," he continued. "The potato crop is splendid with a very large acreage. The flax crop, larger than any of the last three or four years, is good, and the farmers are making good prices.

"A number of settlers are going into Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana looking for land that can be secured at about $30 to $50 an acre on easy terms.

CHARGES FRAUDS IN SUGAR PRICES

La Follette Attacks Two Administrations On Investigation Issue.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, July 30.—By way of a demand upon the United States tariff commission for information as to what it has been doing in sugar investigations, Senator La Follette, independent candidate for president, Tuesday promulgated a declaration which impartially attacked both the present republican and the preceding democratic administrations.

The commission, which has power to recommend upward or downward movements of tariffs, the senator said he had "reason believe," had been delayed by representatives of sugar interests in submitting a report from an investigation into costs of sugar production. He reminded the public in this connection of fluctuations in sugar prices during recent years, which instanced, he asserted, some "control" even of the government by sugar producing and distributing interests.

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

A Biblical Prophesy.

Dear Minerva: In the old testament there is a prophesy that because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk with stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, "because the sow of their countenance is against them," therefore "the Lord will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion," and "it shall come to pass that instead of well-set hair there shall be baldness."

Is there any record in history of the general fulfillment of this prophecy at any time in the past?—Hattie

Why Not Rompers Too?

Dear Minerva: Someone lately has offered the strangest argument in favor of bobbed hair. The reason that most styles change is the fact that people are endeavoring to find something more practical and efficient. Years ago men wore powdered wigs, ribbons, laces and velvet because they did not know any better.

The most comfortable clothes for men and the best looking styles have been found and are here to stay as they have been in use for over fifty years. Men used to wear hairy growths on their faces thinking that it indicated that they were he-men like broad shoulders and lots of muscle. Young doctors wore Van Dykes for it increased their look of wisdom and experience. But we all know how much nicer the pink or even the brown skin of a man looks beside this, so smooth faces are here to stay.

Hair on a person's head is as desirable as two eyes are, as your nose, mouth, arms legs, feet, is here to stay (even though we shave our heads) because nature has made it more beautiful than shaved heads.

The argument that women can bob their hair if men can shave their faces is the funniest thing I have ever heard. What you do to your head and what you do to your face have no relation to one another at all. These women that like to cut their hair short and copy after the men might try growing a beard, a wild-west moustache or shave a bald spot in the crown of their head which would look like some of the men who are trying frantically to hold on to what they still have.

It is all right for children to have bobbed hair as it is a child's style like rompers, half sox and bibs. But women forty years and over do it to suggest a youthful appearance. There are hosts of other things along with the bob that they could do that I marvel they have not been thought of. A big fat mamma running across the lawn with a gingham dress to her knees and a sucker in her mouth could very easily be taken for an over-grown school girl. If someone spoke to her she could put her finger in one corner of her mouth and look down and people would smile very indulgently and say "Bashful."

There is certainly a new world opening up for matrons with grown daughters. It is all right for a grown person to have the wonderful health of a child and a woman that strives for this health is a very wise woman indeed. But it is not necessary to dress and act like a child but it is whole hog or none. So we will bob our hair, don our gingham dresses gambol on the green, and go back to our all-day suckers.—ONE THAT ENJOYS DIGNITY.

P. S., Minerva this is not meant as a slam to you as you probably bobbed your hair to stimulate growth or on account of sickness, but I know of women with wonderful heads of hair who have had it cut to satisfy dame fashion. Long before bobbed hair was ever heard of women were forced to have it cut for perfectly good reasons but wore a cap to hide the awful sight and were pitied by all who knew it.

A. It is sweet of you to give me a I-wouldn't-hurt-you-for-the-world pat on the head. But I must confess that I bobbed my hair for purely frivolous reasons, though happily I am getting a more luxuriant growth of hair thrown in the bargain. I find it a great joy to be able to sun the water out of my hair in about ten minutes after a swim (and swimming is my favorite recreation). I revel in hair-pinless freedom, and I get considerable satisfaction out of the trimness of my head as reflected in a mirror. I never could comb my hair to suit myself, or anyone else for that matter, since the days when I wore it in curls.

I am something of a "B. F. M." too but if my sleekly bobbed hair adds any to my girth I am blissfully ignorant of the fact.

Quite Proper.

Dear Minerva: Is it perfectly proper for a girl when she has a bid to a dance to ask a boy to accompany her?—KATHERINE.

A. Yes, when you have a bid to a dance you have the right of asking some boy friend to accompany you. Usually the girl writes a little note, although you may telephone or invite him personally when you see him.

Should Reply.

Dear Minerva: Upon receiving a bridge invitation on a calling card without the R. S. V. P., should one reply their acceptance? Also will you please state the form in full?

When serving a simple lunch on card tables, where just a fork and spoon are needed, should the fork and spoon both be on the left or the fork on the right?—IN DOUBT.

A. Invitations to any affair such as a bridge party must be answered. The correct form is:

Miss Helen Jones
accepts with pleasure
Mrs. Huntington Wallingford's
kind invitation for
Monday, the Seventeenth of August.

When just a fork and spoon are put at each place it is usual to place them both at the right with the fork on the inside.

The Half-Time Wife

By VIOLET DARE

Copyright, 1924, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

CHAPTER 47.
IMPORTANT EVIDENCE.

At first Suzanne could not see what it was that Lolita had been putting into the desk when she entered the room. But presently she found a note tucked away in a corner.

"Suzanne, Mother has some papers that belong to Mr. Atwood," it read. "I think you ought to have them. She keeps them in her dressing case. I'll get them for you if you want me to."

Suzanne sank weakly into a chair. These must be the letters that Geoffrey had spoken of, the ones proving his lack of knowledge of the transactions that had not been honorable. If only she could get them, then Geoff would be free of Mrs. Vale. She would be a "half-time wife" no longer!

"It would mean stealing them, but I don't care," she reflected. "Only I can't let Lolita do it. That wouldn't be right. I'll do it myself."

It seemed as if fate played into her hands. That afternoon when she was entertaining some friends at tea Linda Vale walked in, carrying an over-night bag.

"My dear, I'm inviting myself to spend a few days with you," she announced. "I've persuaded Geoff to let Lolita and Dick go to their own apartment, and I'm taking their room—that is, if you don't mind, of course—"she flung that remark to Suzanne as if it did not really matter whether Suzanne objected or not.

"I don't see how you stand her," Mrs. Haynes remarked to Suzanne, as Mrs. Vale went upstairs, protesting that she'd rather not have Suzanne accompany her. "Really, she's more at home in your house than you are yourself! I wouldn't have it under any conditions!"

Suzanne smiled and said nothing. But to herself she agreed, and rejoiced that Mrs. Vale's reign could not last much longer.

She was glad, now, that she had not let Linda Vale nag her into a quarrel with Geoff. How many times that had almost happened. That day when she left the house and went to the hotel vowing that she would never return to him—if he had not insisted on joining her, she would have gone away, and it would have been only a matter of time until a divorce was obtained.

But now the end was in sight. She could get the letters that night, somehow.

"It won't be doing wrong," she told herself, over and over, as she dressed for dinner. "They belonged to Geoff in the first place."

But she was nervous that evening, and excused herself early, leaving Mrs. Vale and Geoffrey in the library.

She ran up the stairs to the floor above that where her own rooms were, to the suite that had belonged to Dick Leigh before his marriage to Lolita. Turning on the lights, she glanced about her. Yes, there was Mrs. Vale's dressing case, in which Lolita had said she kept the letters.

She ran over to it, and searched it hastily. Her knees shook, and her hands trembled so that she could hardly hold the things she picked up.

There were no letters there. As she was going through the case again a voice in the doorway startled her.

"And just what did you want in my dressing case?" asked Mrs. Vale.

Suzanne turned hastily. "I'm looking for—for—"

"For something that doesn't belong to you," supplied Mrs. Vale. Then, running to the nearest window, she threw it open, leaned out and screamed.

Suzanne ran after her. On the drive below was a roadster in which were a man and a woman. Suzanne glanced out, to see the man jump from the car and run into the house.

"Why did you do that?" she exclaimed, as Linda Vale turned to her.

"Because you were robbing me," was the calm reply. But that calmness was not to last. There were hurried footsteps on the stairs; Mrs. Vale ran to the door and opened it, crying out hysterically.

(Tomorrow—Happiness at last.)

NEBRASKA CROP PROSPECTS GOOD

Government Statistician Reports Corn Has Made Wonderful Progress.

Wheat Yields Larger Than Expected and of Better Quality.

Prospects for crops in Nebraska "are very good," said A. E. Anderson, statistician for the bureau of crops and livestock estimates, in making public the bureau's crop report. "Corn has made wonderful progress in the past ten day," Mr Anderson, who was just in from a field trip, said. "Small grain is exceeding expectations in both yield and quality. Good crops and advanced prices have promoted a better feeling among farmers than has existed since 1920."

The bureau's report follows:

"The Nebraska corn crop is not more than ten days behind its usual stage of growth for this date. Even with this delay, the present prospects with the large reserve supply of soil moisture are more promising than a crop of normal growth facing a dry season. Under present favorable conditions if continued, the bulk of the crop should regain the time lost in the cold, backward season.

"Stands of corn average fair. The color is excellent. Not more than 10 per cent of the crop could be classed as being very late. The prospects are excellent in every section of the state. Southwest Nebraska has as good a prospect as a year ago, when a record production was made. Corn was not delayed as much here as in eastern Nebraska.

"Wheat yields are larger than anticipated. The quality is also better than expected. Protein tests of 15.5 per cent have actually been reached. This is abnormally high. Oats are also better than expected.

"The second crop of alfalfa is being harvested and is very good. Conditions are favorable for a third crop. The first crop of red clover was very good and the after-math or second crop is very promising. Pastures are unusually good throughout the state.

"Potatoes are excellent. The harvest of the early potato crop has started. The acreage is much smaller than last year but much better yields are expected. Apples show improvement under favorable soil and moisture conditions.

"Forage crops are very good. There is a large acreage of Sudan grass and some of it is being cut for early hay. It is furnishing excellent pasture. Sweet clover has made a prolific growth.

"With a more favorable rating of crops in the July report than many of the other states and subsequent improvement, it appears that Nebraska will be a top-notcher in crop production this year."

HIGHLAND Ill., July 30— Three bandits held up the First National bank of Highland [illegible] escaped with between $17,000 and $20,000.

They then compelled Malan to unlock the vault from which they obtained some $15,000.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

A Biblical Prophesy.

Dear Minerva: In the old testament there is a prophesy that because the daughters of Zion are haughty, and walk wth stretched forth necks and wanton eyes, "because the sow of their countenance is against them," therefore "the Lord will smite with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Zion," and "it shall come to pass that instead of well-set hair there shall be baldness."

Is there any record in history of the general fulfillment of this prophecy at any time in the past?—Hattie.

Why Not Rompers Too?

Dear Minerva: Someone lately has offered the strangest argument in favor of bobbed hair. The reason that most styles change is the fact that people are endeavoring to find something more practical and efficient. Years ago men wore powdered wigs, ribbons, laces and velvet because they did not know any better.

The most comfortable clothes for men and the best looking styles have been found and are here to stay as they have been in use for over fifty years. Men used to wear hairy growths on their faces thinking that it indicated that they were he-men like broad shoulders and lots of muscle. Young doctors wore Van Dykes for it increased their look of wisdom and experience. But we all know how much nicer the pink or even the brown skin of a man looks beside this, so smooth faces are here to stay.

Hair on a person's head is as desirable as two eyes are, as your nose, mouth, arms legs, feet, is here to stay (even though we shave our heads) because nature has made it more beautiful than shaved heads.

The argument that women can bob their hair if men can shave their faces is the funniest thing I have ever heard. What you do to your head and what you do to your face have no relation to one another at all. These women that like to cut their hair short and copy after the men might try growing a beard, a wild-west moustache or shave a bald spot in the crown of their head which would look like some of the men who are trying frantically to hold on to what they still have.

It is all right for children to have bobbed hair as it is a child's style like rompers, half sox and bibs. But women forty years and over do it to suggest a youthful appearance. There are hosts of other things along with the bob that they could do that I marvel they have not been thought of. A big fat mamma running across the lawn with a gingham dress to her knees and a sucker in her mouth could very easily be taken for an over-grown school girl. If someone spoke to her she could put her finger in one corner of her mouth and look down and people would smile very indulgently and say "Bashful."

There is certainly a new world opening up for matrons with grown daughters. It is all right for a grown person to have the wonderful health of a child and a woman that strives for this health is a very wise woman indeed. But it is not necessary to dress and act like a child but it is whole hog or none. So we will bob our hair, don our gingham dresses gambol on the green, and go back to our all-day suckers.—ONE THAT ENJOYS DIGNITY.

P. S.: Minerva this is not meant as a slam to you as you probably bobbed your hair to stimulate growth. or on account of sickness, but I know of women with wonderful heads of hair who have had it cut to satisfy dame fashion. Long before bobbed hair was ever heard of women were forced to have it cut for perfectly good reasons but wore a cap to hide the awful sight and were pitied by all who knew it.

A. It is sweet of you to give me a I-wouldn't-hurt-you-for-the-world pat on the head. But I must confess that I bobbed my hair for purely frivolous reasons, though happily I am getting a more luxuriant growth of hair thrown in the bargain. I find it a great joy to be able to sun the water out of my hair in about ten minutes after a swim (and swimming is my favorite recreation), I revel in hair-pinless freedom, and I get considerable satisfaction out of the trimness of my head as reflected in a mirror. I never could comb my hair to suit myself, or anyone else for that matter, since the days when I wore it in curls.

I am something of a "B. F. M." too, but if my sleekly bobbed hair adds any to my girth I am blissfully ignorant of the fact.

Quite Proper.

Dear Minerva: Is it perfectly proper for a girl when she has a bid to a dance to ask a boy to accompany her?—KATHERINE.

A. Yes, when you have a bid to a dance you have the right of asking some boy friend to accompany you. Usually the girl writes a little note, although you may telephone or invite him personally when you see him.

Should Reply.

Dear Minerva: Upon receiving a bridge invitation on a calling card without the R. S. V. P., should one reply their acceptance? Also will you please state the form in full?

When serving a simple lunch on card tables, where just a fork and spoon are needed, should the fork and spoon both be on the left or the fork on the right?—IN DOUBT.

A. Invitations to any affair such as a bridge party must be answered. The correct form is:

Miss Helen Jones
accepts with pleasure
Mrs. Huntington Wallingford's
kind invitation for
Monday, the Seventeenth of August.

When just a fork and spoon are put at each place it is usual to place them both at the right with the fork on the inside.

The Half-Time Wife

CHAPTER 47.
IMPORTANT EVIDENCE.

At first Suzanne could not see what it was that Lolita had been putting into the desk when she entered the room. But presently she found a note tucked away in a corner.

"Suzanne, Mother has some papers that belong to Mr. Atwood," it read. "I think you ought to have them. She keeps them in her dressing case. I'll get them for you if you want me to."

Suzanne sank weakly into a chair. These must be the letters that Geoffrey had spoken of, the ones proving his lack of knowledge of the transactions that had not been honorable. If only she could get them, then Geoff would be free of Mrs. Vale. She would be a "half-time wife" no longer!

"It would mean stealing them, but I don't care," she reflected. "Only I can't let Lolita do it. That wouldn't be right. I'll do it myself."

It seemed as if fate played into her hands. That afternoon when she was entertaining some friends at tea Linda Vale walked in, carrying an overnight bag.

"My dear, I'm inviting myself to spend a few days with you," she announced. "I've persuaded Geoff to let Lolita and Dick go to their own apartment, and I'm taking their room—that is, if you don't mind, of course—"she flung that remark to Suzanne as if it did not really matter whether Suzanne objected or not.

"I don't see how you stand her," Mrs. Haynes remarked to Suzanne, as Mrs. Vale went upstairs, protesting that she'd rather not have Suzanne accompany her. "Really, she's more at home in your house than you are yourself! I wouldn't have it under any conditions!"

Suzanne smiled and said nothing. But to herself she agreed, and rejoiced that Mrs. Vale's reign could not last much longer.

She was glad, now, that she had not let Linda Vale nag her into a quarrel with Geoff. How many times that had almost happened. That day when she left the house and went to the hotel vowing that she would never return to him—if he had not insisted on joining her, she would have gone away, and it would have been only a matter of time until a divorce was obtained.

But now the end was in sight. She could get the letters that night, somehow.

"It won't be doing wrong," she told herself, over and over, as she dressed for dinner. "They belonged to Geoff in the first place."

But she was nervous that evening, and excused herself early, leaving Mrs. Vale and Geoffrey in the library.

She ran up the stairs to the floor above that where her own rooms were, to the suite that had belonged to Dick Leigh before his marriage to Lolita. Turning on the lights, she glanced about her. Yes, there was Mrs. Vale's dressing case, in which Lolita had said she kept the letters.

She ran over to it, and searched it hastily. Her knees shook, and her hands trembled so that she could hardly hold the things she picked up.

There were no letters there. As she was going through the case again a voice in the doorway startled her.

"And just what did you want in my dressing case?", asked Mrs. Vale.

Suzanne turned hastily. "I'm looking for—for—"

"For something that doesn't belong to you," supplied Mrs. Vale. Then, running to the nearest window, she threw it open, leaned out and screamed.

Suzanne ran after her. On the drive below was a roadster in which were a man and a woman. Suzanne glanced out, to see the man jump from the car and run into the house.

"Why did you do that?" she exclaimed, as Linda Vale turned to her.

"Because you were robbing me," was the calm reply. But that calmness was not to last. There were hurried footsteps on the stairs; Mrs. Vale ran to the door and opened it, crying out hysterically.

WAR DEPARTMENT QUITE SURPRISED

Says Governor Bryan Has Drawn Extraordinary Inferences From Document.

Talks Rather Queerly, Say Officials, But Acts Are Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON July 30—Governor Charles W Bryan of Nebraska has drawn rather extraordinary in[illegible] ferences [illegible] perfectly clear document the war department declared in a statement answering the governor's criticism of the defense day program for September 12

Referring to Governor Bryan's previous promise of co operation the department statement offered the explanation that the governor's more recent stand presumably is due to the wording of the document issued since then by the corps area commander giving instructions to the reserve officers

Not to Mobilize Citizens

In this document the statement continued no reference can be found to mobilization of civilians

The nearest approach to this it added is a statement in the document that civilians who volunteer their services for the day will be permitted to parade with the national guard and organized reserves in organization in order that the process of mobilization may be simulated The fact that all participation by civilians in the defense test is purely voluntary has been emphasized in all instruction in regard to the test

Replying to the description of the program as a mobilization the department insisted that the only thing asked for was voluntary co operation during the ceremonies of the day of those citizens who desire to parade with organizations on the theory that in case of war they probably would enlist therein

Mobilization the statement added means the bringing to war strength in men arms and material of the armed forces of the nation Nothing of this sort is contemplated

The governor further states that this test will convey a wrong impression to the people of preparation for war when there is no war in sight The law imposes upon the war department the requirement of organizing divisions so that they will be prepared for rapid and complete mobilization in the event of an emergency The defense test is designed to enable our people to visualize the process necessary to such complete mobilization

It is designedly being held when the international situation is perfectly calm because it is just during such periods of calm that normal measures can be taken without alarming any one else To postpone preparation for military operations until an international crisis arises is the poorest possible service to the cause of peace for it is then that the normal military precautions are misinterpreted

See No Alarm

The governor further states that the defense test may mislead and alarm other people The war department has kept careful track of foreign public opinion through the reports of military attaches and finds no evidence to support the governor's statement It is difficult to see how any country which maintains compulsory military service and holds partial mobilization annually could possibly be alarmed by the defense act

To sum up the statement of the governor of Nebraska indicates that he has drawn rather extraordinary inferences from what seems to be a perfectly clear document While it is desirable that all prominent citizens openly support the defense test the action of the governor in ordering the assembly of the national guard organizations under his control on September 12 and in appointing local committees will enable the department to carry out its plan in the state of Nebraska completely

Objection By William J

MIAMI Fla July 30—President Coolidge's plan for setting aside September 12 as national defense day was criticized by William Jennings Bryan who declared in a public statement that he could see no reason why a new custom of this kind should be inaugurated just at the time when the world needs our assistance in the abolition of war instead of ostentatious exhibition of our preparedness for war

Mandamus Hearing Set For Thursday

Hearing of the mandamus suit brought by H L Kuppinger Omaha attorney on behalf of 3 Nebraska municipalities against the state board of equalization to compel that body to reapportion mileage values of main line and branch line tracks so that all cities and villages on the same system may assess and tax the companies locally on the same basis per mile will take place Thursday afternoon before Judge Shepherd in the district court of Lancaster county

So far only the city of Lincoln and two or three smaller places that would be adversely affected by the proposed change have shown any interest in the matter aside from those seeking to have it brought about

The state board will undertake to justify its own mode of distributing the values but it does not care to enter into a long legal fight in case the district court should issue a writ of mandamus directing that it be done some other way If the municipalities which would lose are not interested enough to defend their rights the board does not feel under any obligation to make a fight for them

Omaha like Lincoln would lose a considerable amount of local revenue [illegible] the new plan were adopted but up to this time it has not been heard from All main line towns in general would have some of their receipts cut off

WOMAN'S PARTY ORGANIZER HERE

Miss Mable Vernon Explains Purposes of Organization to Lincoln Women.

Miss Mable Vernon national organizer for the Woman's party explained the purposes of the organization to a group of twenty-two women at luncheon Tuesday at the Woodburn The advancement of women she said is the sole purpose of the party which attaches great importance [illegible] The removal of all the remaining forms of subjection of women is the quoted goal for the party

Miss Vernon arrived at 1 15 Monday noon from Denver and left Tuesday for Michigan A tentative and incomplete committee list for Nebraska for advancement of the party includes Miss Marie Thompson Miss Helen McGerr Miss Grace McG[illegible] and Miss Ruth Comstock

The passage of a blanket amendment to provide for industrial political and economic equality for Women is the ambition of the party That laws applying only to women particularly the minimum wage law the no night work legislation and the eight hour day for women provisions are not only no help but an actual hindrance to the women they affect is the position of the party

A round table discussion followed the opening speech Among those present were Mrs P I McGerr Mrs Carl Newlon Mrs W Le Roy Davis Mrs C A Sorenson Mrs W E Hardy Mrs H H Wheeler and Mrs W I Barkley

in the circular to make the affair a demonstration of the mobilization of all the elements of the nation both personal and material This as Governor Bryan construes it means that all citizens of military age who are willing to be enrolled together with the industrial resources of the country are to be enlisted with the military organizations for the one day in a general test of the nation's strength for war

Reinforcing this idea Mr Bryan finds a clause in the war department's instructions suggesting that local mobilization committees be formed to function for the time being in a manner analagous to the action of draft boards during the participation of the United States in the world war

Without regard to uniform or equipment citizens volunteering for the day should be incorporated in military units for parades and other ceremonies is another passage which in the governor's opinion carries the mobilization idea beyond anything contemplated in the national defense act

Is Congratulated on Stand

I congratulate you on your courage in refusing to issue a proclamation asking citizens of Nebraska to take part in a militaristic demonstration on September 12 says Charles E Martin of Plattsmouth in a letter to the governor I regard it as a scheme to glorify war and to me it is repulsive

This is the most commendable step you have taken declares Perry J Green of Tilden It will surely meet the approval of all peace loving citizens Green favors the war referendum principle and conscription of wealth in case of hostilities

Rev W T Elmore Lincoln is another who writes to commend Governor Bryan's attitude Mrs I L [illegible] spoken also of the [illegible] democratic [illegible] railway commissioner expresses himself [illegible] same way

You [illegible] sentiment of the American [illegible] says Rev Fred Young pastor of the First Baptist church at [illegible]

Your views are absolutely right and your stand on the question has strengthened you materially in the eyes of Nebraskans is the opinion voiced by Neal C Taylor of Omaha

Republican Candidate Endorses

A I Tidd of Plattsmouth republican and progressive nominee for state senator in his district writes his cordial approval in these lines

I most sincerely congratulate you on your position relative to the civilian mobilization I am convinced it is only a part of the militarist scheme and system which was tried to be thrust on this country immediately at the close of the world war I most heartily endorse your action

Walter H Riley pastor of a federated Congregational Presbyterian church at Columbus says

We hope you may [illegible] vocal and put the state officially on record as opposed to any scheme plan or program which might indicate to the world that we are a warlike or a war loving people None of us object to a genuine bona fide arrangement for defense of the country in time of danger but we do strenuously object to such a warlike gesture as that planned for mobilization day

Calls It War Propaganda

Is this not sabre rattling war propaganda asks A B [illegible] executive secretary of the council of churches at Portland Or in a letter to the governor He protests against an annual field day to irritate other nations

Ernest Johnson of New York an officer of the federal council of churches writes for a copy of the war department's instructions

John O Schmidt Wahoo is among those endorsing the governor's position

Mr Bryan said he had also heard from a number of Lincoln citizens commending his action and had not received a single criticism from any source outside of those published in the newspapers

WAR DEPARTMENT QUITE SURPRISED

Says Governor Bryan Has Drawn Extraordinary Inferences From Document.

Talks Rather Queerly, Say Officials, But Acts Are Satisfactory.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, "has drawn rather extraordinary inferences from what seems to be a perfectly clear document," the war department declared in a statement answering the governor's criticism of the "defense day" program for September 12.

Referring to Governor Bryan's previous promise of co-operation, the department statement offered the explanation that the governor's more recent stand "presumably is due to the wording of thedocument issued since then by the corps area commander giving instructions to the reserve officers."

Not to Mobilize Citizens.

"In this document," the statement continued, "no reference can be found to mobilization of civilians."

"The nearest approach to this," it added, "is a statement in the document that civilians who volunteer their services for the day will be permitted to parade with the national guard and organized reserves in organization in order that the process of mobilization may be simulated. The fact that all participation by civilians in the 'defense test" is purely voluntary has been emphasized in all instruction in regard to the test."

Replying to the description of the program as a "mobilization," the department insisted that the only thing asked for was "voluntary co-operation during the ceremonies of the day of those citizens who desire to parade with organizations, on the theory that, in case of war, they probably would enlist therein."

"Mobilization," the statement added, "means the bringing to war strength in men, arms and material of the armed forces of the nation. Nothing of this sort is contemplated.

"The governor further states that this test will convey a wrong impression to the people of preparation for war when there is no war in sight. The law imposes upon the war department the requirement of organizing divisions so that they will be prepared for rapid and complete mobilization in the event of an emergency. The 'defense tst' is designed to enable our people to visualize the processes necessary to such complete mobilization.

"It is desgnedly being held when the international situation is perfectly calm, because it is just during such periods of calm that normal measures can be taken without alarming any one else. To postpone preparation for military operations until an international crisis arises, is the poorest possble service to the cause of peace, for it is then that the normal military precautions are misinterpreted.

See No Alarm.

"The governor further states that the 'defense test' may mislead and alarm other people. The war department has kept careful track of foreign public opinion through the reports of military attaches and finds no evidence to support the governor's statement. It is difficult to see how any country which maintains compulsory military service and holds partial mobilization annually could possibly be alarmed by the 'defense act.'

"To sum up the statement of the governor of Nebraska, indicates that he has drawn rather extraordinary inferences from what seems to be a perfectly clear document. While it is desirable that all prominent citizens openly support the 'defense test,' the action of the governor in ordering the assembly of the national guard organizations under his control on Seutember 12 and in appointing local committees will enable the department to carry out its plan in the state of Nebraska completely."

Objection By William J.

MIAMI, Fla., July 30.—President Coolidge's plan for setting aside September 12 as "national defense day" was criticized by William Jennings Bryan who declared in a public statement that he could "see no reason why a new custom of this kind should be inaugurated just at the time when the world needs our assistance in the abolition of war instead of ostentatious exhibition of our preparedness for war.

Mandamus Hearing Set For Thursday

Hearing of the mandamus suit brought by H. E. Kuppinger, Omaha attorney, on behalf of 35 Nebraska municipalities, against the state board of equalization, to compel that body to reapportion mileage values of main line and branch line tracks so that all cities and villages on the same system may assess and tax the companies locally on the same basis per mile, will take place Thursday afternoon before Judge Shepherd in the district court of Lancaster county.

So far, only the city of Lincoln and two or three smaller places that would be adversely affected by the proposed change have shown any interest in the matter, aside from those seeking to have it brought about.

The state board will undertake to justify its own mode of distributing the values, but it does not care to enter into a long legal fight in case the district court should issue a writ of mandamus directing that it be done some other way. If the municipalities which would lose are not interested enough to defend their rights, the board does not feel under any obligation to make a fight for them.

Omaha, like Lincoln, would lose a considerable amount of local revenue if the new plan were adopted, but up to this time it has not been heard from. All main line towns, in general, would have some of their receipts cut off.

The advancement of women, she said, is the sole purpose of the party, which attaches great importance to concentration. "The removal of all the remaining forms of subjection of women" is the quoted goal for the party.

Miss Vernon arrived at 1:15 Monday noon from Denver, and left Tuesday for Michigan. A tentative and incomplete committee list for Nebraska for advancement of the party includes Miss Marie Thompson, Miss Helen McGerr, Miss Grace McGerr and Miss Ruth Comstock.

The passage of a blanket amendment to provide for industrial, political and economic equality for Women is the ambition of the party. That laws applying only to women, particularly the minimum wage law, the "no night work" legislation, and the eight-hour-day-for-women provisions, are not only no help, but an actual hindrance to the women they affect is the position of the party.

A round-table discussion followed the opening speech. Among those present were Mrs. P. T. McGerr, Mrs Carl Newlon, Mrs. W. Le Roy Davis, Mrs. C. A. Sorenson, Mrs W. E. Hardy, Mrs. H. H. Wheeler and Mrs. W. E. Barkley.

in the circular, to make the affair "a demonstration of the mobilization of all the elements of the nation, both personal and material." This, as Governor Bryan construes it, means that all citizens of military age who are willing to be enrolled, together with the industrial resources of the country, are to be enlisted with the military organizations for the one day, in a general test of the nation's strnegth for war.

Reinforcing this idea, Mr. Bryan finds a clause in the war department's instructions suggesting that local mobilization committees be formed to function, for the time being, in a manner analagous to the action of draft boards during the participation of the United States in the worwld war.

"Without regard to uniform or equipment, citizens volunteering for the day should be incorporated in military units for parades and other ceremonies," is another passage which in the governor's opinion, carries the mobilization idea beyond anything contemplated in the national defense act.

Is Congratulated on Stand.

"I congratulate you on your courage in refusing to issue a proclamation asking citizens of Nebraska to take part in a militaristic demonstration on September 12," says Charles E. Martin of Plattsmouth in a letter to the governor. "I regard it as a scheme to glorify war, and to me it is repulsive."

"This is the most commendable step you have taken," declares Perry J. Green of Tilden. "It will surely meet the approval of all peace-loving citizens." Green favors the war referendum principle and conscription of wealth in case of hostilities.

Rev. W. T. Elmore, Lincoln, is another who writes to commend Governor Bryan's attitude. Mrs. F. L Bollen, also of this city, wife of the democratic nominee for railway commissioner, expresses herself in the same way

"You are interpreting aright the sentiment of the American people," says Rev. Fred Young, pastor of the First Baptist church at Fremont.

"Your views are absolutely right and your stand on the question has strengthened you materially in the eyes of Nebraskans," is the opinion voiced by Merle C. Taylor of Omaha.

Republican Candidate Endorses.

A. L. Tidd of Plattsmouth, republican and progressive nominee for state senator in his district, writes his cordial approval in these lines:

"I most sincerely congratulate you on your position relative to the civilian mobilization. I am convinced it is only a part of the militaristic scheme and system which was tried to be thrust on this country immediately at the close of the world war. I most heartily endorse your action."

Walter H. Riley, pastor of a federated Congregational-Presbyterian church at Columbus, says:

"We hope you may become more vocal and put the state officially on record as opposed to any scheme, plan or program which might indicate to the world that we are a warlike or a war-loving people. None of us object to a genuine, bona fide arrangement for defense of the country in time of danger, but we do strenuously object to such a warlike gesture as that planned for mobilization day.

Calls It War Propaganda.

"Is this not sabre-rattling war propaganda?" asks A. B. Snyder executive secretary of the council of churches at Portland, Ore., in a letter to the governor. He protests against "an annual field day to irritate other nations."

Ernest Johnson of New York, an officer of the federal council of churches, writes for a copy of the war department's instructions.

John O. Schmidt, Wahoo, is among those endorsing the governor's position.

Mr. Bryan said he had also heard from a number of Lincoln citizens commending his action, and had not received a single criticism from any source, outside of those published in the newspapers.

Like all my friends on the stage and in the movies I use very costly powders I have them made to my order and they cost me $5 per box Our careers depend on our looks and nothing is too costly

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices I order them in quantities under my name I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best

Now all druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders There are two kinds For myself I prefer a clinging powder a cold cream powder based on my Youth Cream [illegible] enduring That Youth Cream Powder costs $1 But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder If you want that kind it costs but 50 cents Both kinds come in three shades—white flesh and brunette

So far as I know these powders are the finest in existence You may be sure that [illegible] anyone produced a [illegible] powder I would get it quickly Anyone who uses common powders will gain a new conception of what powders should be

GRACE GANNON BRIDE OF VINCENT GRADY.

Miss Grace Gannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Gannon, 500 South Twenty-eighth street, and Vincent Grady of Minneapolis, formerly of Lincoln, were married Monday afternoon in Minneapolis. Miss Gannon accompanied by her sister, Miss Dorothy Gannon, left Sunday afternoon for Minneapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady are spending their honeymoon in the lake district of Minnesota but will return to Minneapolis to make their home. The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. For the past five years she has been an instructor in Latin in the high school of South Omaha.

Miss Dorothy Gannon will return home tomorrow.

MARK E. JOHNSON WINS OPERA SCHOLARSHIP.

Mark E. Johnson, bass, for four and one-half years student with Edith Lucille Robbins, won an opera scholarship in the Eastman School of Music, of the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., after an audition in Chicago, Monday, July 21. This is a rare honor to be granted, since the two of the eleven names played. The requirements in university education and in musical attainments are rigid. This scholarship was competitive. The audition was one of three held in Boston, New York and Chicago. This opera scholarship won by Mr. Johnson was one of five to be granted to the successful competitors. The selection was made by Vladimir Rosing, director of the opera school of the Eastman School of Music.

This opera scholarship grants to Mr. Johnson free tuition and intensive training in all phases of opera work, together with preparation and actual experience in opera. The work carried on in the study of opera will take Mr. Johnson's entire time, thought, and concentration during the coming school year.

Mr. Johnson is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson of Council Bluffs, although he has been known in musical circles in Lincoln for the past six years. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Nebraska, where he specialized in modern languages and in dramatic art. Since his graduation in 1921, he has taught Latin in high schools near Lincoln, so as to be able to continue his vocal studies.

Mr. Johnson's bass voice is well known in Lincoln and vicinity where he has often appeared as a church and recital soloist. For the past three years he has been a member of the First Baptist church octette, under the direction of Dr. J. M. Mayhew. For three years Mr. Johnson has been the bass soloist for the Bel Canto Men's chorus on their many programs. For the past two years he has had the additional honor of being chosen as dramatic reader on the programs offered by this men's chorus.

The Eastman School of Music is part of the University of Rochester. The excellent standard of work required brings to the winners of the scholarships in opera a great privilege in further musical growth.

The recently elected new director of the Eastman School of Music is Howard Hansen, once a resident of Wahoo, but for years past of national reputation in the music world. Mr. Hansen returns from Rome to assume the work as director of the Eastman School of Music.

MR. AND MRS. WASSERMAN SOJOURNING IN ALPS

A card from Mr. and Mrs. M. Wasserman written July 12 in Zurich, Switzerland, tells of a delightful sojourn in the Alps. "Here we are in Zurich, Switzerland, surrounded by the Alps," they wrote, "very chilly at night but very, very pretty. From here we go to Interlacken, another resort, then on to still another resort, Montreaux, and then we finish up in Paris. We will stay there ten days and will sail for home Aug. 5 on the Leviathan. Everyone here is talking about Nebraska and Charles Bryan."

Escaped Prisoner Again In Custody

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 30.—Dr. J. R. Montgomery, one of the four prisoners who escaped from the county jail here about three months ago, has been captured at Sedan, Kas, according to word received by Sheriff Al Young. He is said to be wanted in seven counties in Nebraska and Kansas on the charge of obtaining money under false pretense. His method, it is said, is to agree to furnish eye glasses and offer treatments, receiving advance payments, but failing to live up to his part of the contract.

HUMBOLDT FUNERAL.

(Special to The Star.)

HUMBOLDT, Neb., July 30.— Miss Agnes Herdlitchka, sister of James Herdlitchka of this city, died at Oklahoma City and was buried here Tuesday from the home of her brother. She was born in Pawnee county and was fifty-three years old. She had resided in Oklahoma for a number of years.

PECK FAMILY REUNION.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 30.—More than fifty members of the Peck family, most of them residents of Richardson county, gathered at Miller's grove, below the Kansas line, for their sixth annual reunion. Ephriam Peck, patriarch of the family, delivered the principal address. The first Peck came to this country seven generations ago.

MILLIONS MORE FOR THE FARMER

Great Wheat Yield and High Prices Big Help For Nebraska.

OMAHA, July 30—Nebraska's wheat crop this year will amount to 50,000,000 bushels, according to reports compiled yesterday by J. M. Gillan, agricultural commissioner of the chamber of commerce.

"This estimate of 50,000,000 bushels is believed to be nearly correct" said Mr. Gillan. 'Last year the wheat crop of this state amounted to 28,000,000 bushels. The heavier yield and the higher price will bring to farmers of the state this year $30,000,000 more than they received for their wheat last year."

Not only is the yield heavy, but the quality of the wheat is the finest, Mr. Gillan said. As an example, he pointed to a letter just received from Sidney, where the yield was said to be 40 bushels to the acre on many farms, and to be averaging 30 to 50 bushels to the acre on all of thme.

Twenty-seven Hens Equal Earnings of A Cow During June

HEBRON, Neb., July 30. — Averages of the net incomes from the 4,684 hens in the accredited farm flock project in this county and the 98 cows in the Thayer county cow testing project of the agricultural extension service, show that twenty-seven hens made the same profit for their owners as did one cow during the month of June, according to county agent L. C. Christie.

Eggs and stock sold from each twenty-seven hens totaled $9.72. The feed bill was $2.16, leaving a net profit of $7.56. Butterfat and skimmed milk from the average cok was worth $10.63. Her feed bill was more than the hens, being $3.06, leaving the net profit of $7.57. For the feed consumed in June, the hens were the more efficient producers of the two sets of farm animals.

Show Wider Variation.

The summaries of the two projects show a wider variation in returns between the individual than between the different flocks of chickens. Most of the poultry co-operators with the extension service have been in the project in the past two years and have culled and standardized their flocks more than the dairy co-operators have graded up their herds. This is the second year that the cow testing project has been operated in the county, but a large per centage of the cows in the project this year were not enrolled last year. The value of selection of individuals is proved by the difference in the variations, Mr. Christie says.

"Cows may be weeded out at any time in the year, but right now is the proper time to begin culling the hens," Mr. Christie said. "Those that are beginning to molt already, that appear lazy and listless, and show no signs of having laid much during the last month should be marketed. The flock should be culled each month from now on until fall," he said.

RELIGIOUS FESTIVAL.

(Special to The Star.)

DAVID CITY, Neb., July 30.—The union Butler county religious festival that was held at the City park Sunday was a decided success although the rain spoiled the morning program. After dinner a pageant was put on under the direction of Rev. Case of Bellwood; at 3:30 a young people's rally was held and at 6 p. m., the evening services were held. The men's chorus furnished the music for the evening. A large crowd was in attendance from all over the county.

VISIT ARKANSAS.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 30.—City Commissioner Ellis and family left yesterday for Harrison, Ark., and other points by auto in the hope of improving Mr. Ellis' health. He has been suffering from stomach trouble for some months. The party expects to be gone about a month.

Bring Back Man Facing Charge of Stealing a Car

Deputy Sheriff Elza Longstreth returned from Sapulpa, Okla., Tuesday evening with Glen Sult, 24, charged with having stolen a car from J. F. Hanbsch, Wahoo clothing salesman, with whom he rode from Wahoo to Lincoln.

The car was taken by Sult and a companion on the return trip, according to officers.

Sult admitted that he had taken the car, according to Longstreth. He said that he had quarreled with his companion and that they had separated. He did not know where the other boy was, according to Longstreth.

Are using these rare powders

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I did not intend to supply powders to women. My only idea was to furnish them my greatest beauty helps. But thousands of women have urged me, by letter and in person, to tell them the powders I use.

Edna Wallace Hopper
Photo 1923.

Like all my friends on the stage and in the movies, I use very costly powders. I have them made to my order, and they cost me $5 per box. Our careers depend on our looks, and nothing is too costly.

But I have persuaded the makers to offer these powders at ordinary prices. I order them in quantities, under my name. I offer them at my expense to girls and women who desire the best.

Now all druggists and toilet counters supply Edna Wallace Hopper's Powders. There are two kinds. For myself I prefer a clinging powder, a cold cream powder, based on my Youth Cream. It is enduring. That Youth Cream Powder costs $1. But many women prefer a light and fluffy powder. If you want that kind, it costs but 50 cents. Both kinds come in three shades—white, flesh and brunette.

So far as I know, these powders are the finest in existence. You may be sure that if anyone produced a better powder I would get it quickly. Anyone who uses common powders will gain a new conception of what powders should be.

MRS. TINDELL GAINED 27 POUNDS ON TANLAC

"The Tanlac treatment is certainly grand. A year ago it gave me such a wonderful appetite and such good digestion that my weight increased from 123 to 150 pounds, and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since," is the glowing tribute paid the famous medicine recently, by Mrs. Hazel Tindell, 1132 Jackson St., Dubuque, Iowa.

When spring time came on last year I found my system all upset. My stomach and nerves were out of order, the color of health had left my cheeks and I did not have energy and the strength to do my housework.

"But Tanlac soon corrected my troubles, brought the color of health back to my cheeks and left me feeling strong and well, just as I am now. I could not do otherwise than praise Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

LAND ECONOMY.

Fifty years ago land economy was unthought of in this state The great stretches of Nebraska prairies afforded all the farming ground desired by those early pioneers The richest and most fertile acres were chosen and the rest was left lying idle That day has passed With the natural growth of our state every bit of available soil has been and is being put to use The farmer is constantly studying methods for making the less fertile soil produce better crops The agricultural extension department of the state university is playing no small part in this soil saving work

Soil erosion or washing is one of the most serious problems facing the grain farmer Erosion removes the surface soil containing much of the organic matter and nitrogen so necessary to the best plant growth It forms gullies and deposits which cause a loss of time and land inconvenience and breakage of machinery and primarily a reduction in crop production

According to the [illegible] estimates more than 4 000 000 acres in the United States have been ruined by erosion to the point of abandonment and 8 000 000 acres have been seriously damaged Nebraska land is still in good condition generally but it is for the farmers to take advantage of the information afforded them by the extension department and see that every safeguard is used to prevent such destruction in the future The department has issued a thirty five page circular dealing with soil washing its evils and methods of combatting it

All soil is subject to erosion more or less but it is the rolling plains of southeastern Nebraska which are most seriously damaged The rich loose black loam which forms the surface soil here is easily washed by the drenching rains that frequent this territory The topography or slope of the land is an important factor in determining erosion Flat level land is not eroded by water regardless of its texture Rolling land is eroded rapidly

Carelessness in farming operations is pointed out by the extension service as being the greatest cause for the formation of gullies Dead furrows lister furrows and depressions formed by single listing and in other ways gather water and are the beginning of gullies In some parts of the state where the land is rolling the common practice has been to list corn This has resulted in much injury to the land through the removal of much good top soil and the formation of ditches the circular points out

THE "INDISPENSABLE NEWSPAPER"

The value of newspaper advertising is nowadays a matter that need not be argued but a bulletin issued by the Nebraska Committee on Public Utilities headed The Indispensable Newspaper brings some new thoughts on the combination of newspaper advertising with other forms

All forms of advertising have been used by public utility companies says the bulletin but adds that the one that has proved indispensable is the newspaper

It then continues

A single newspaper will often cover from 60 to 80 percent of the homes in its territory Advertising space in that paper will give a much greater return per dollar spent than will any other form of advertising on which postage is spent

Secondly people are accustomed to reading the newspaper It is not difficult to get their attention as in the case of the circular letter the booklet or other forms of direct by mail advertising Third and best of all it is timely The advertiser is able to appeal to his audience by frequent advertisements

By all means use the different forms of advertising but use them to round out your advertising program the principal item of which should be the daily or weekly newspapers but the newspaper is the one that is indispensable

The tired business man who feels it is his civic duty to keep a watch on the enlisted strength of the nation's army of jobholders but is just a little too tired to do it will be glad to know that there is a quick and easy and simple way to keep himself informed at least as to trend In these graphic days of curves and projections and relative heights of the man on the right and the man on the left even a tired business man can catch the significance of the relation of a small figure to a large one

That is the only necessary technical knowledge The rest is easy In an article on the growth of United State bureaus published in The Sun this morning it is set forth that in 1900 the expenses of the Civil Service Commission were $97 408 In 1923 the expenses of the Civil Service Commission were $799 159 And what is the Civil Service Commission? Immediately it becomes apparent that the number of jobholders in 1923 was increased by more than seven times the rate that obtained in 1900 From those figures it would be possible to prognosticate a little on the probable rate in 1934 but probably that would be too complicated for the tired business man If he will tuck these figures away in his hat though he may see for himself how the land lies when the expenses of the Civil Service Commission for 1924 are revealed

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

The happiest men are not the ones
Who had the luck—or was it Fate?—
To start in life as rich men's sons
Or as descendants of the great
They have no easy rows to hoe
For what they do is always known
Well watched wherever they may go
Their souls can hardly be their own

The luckiest men are not the men
Who feel Ambition's constant urge
They may have moments now and then
When through them sweet emotions surge
But pleasure seldom goes their ways
They must be always pressing on
Their hearts are saddened by delays
The days they dream of never dawn

The happiest men are not the small
Unnoticed ones whose wants are few
Who never learn to care at all
For honors that the wise pursue
Their troubles may not long rem in
To fret them or disturb their sleep
But small enjoyment as they gain
Is crude and primitive and cheap

The luckiest men are those who strive
Who [illegible] that never fails nor [illegible]
Who think themselves important [illegible]
Whose measure covers few degrees—
Men in whose [illegible] minds one thought
And only one can generate
Who never [illegible] they may not
Have talents that are truly great

A BIT OF HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

DO ONE THING AT A TIME

Sometimes things pile up so thick and fast it seems as if it were impossible to surmount them

At such time do you run up and down hither and thither not knowing which to tackle first?

In your unrest and uneasiness you accomplish nothing

If you would set yourself at some one task and do it with your might till it was finished another would suggest itself as next in order and finally order would come out of chaos

It is because you waste so much time doing nothing that you do not get done what you should

To know that even one thing is done and in order is a great encouragement to go on with the next duty

So set about it with a will to get something done And do not stop till the first job is completed

Take a breath and tackle into the next task and you will find the whole accomplished on the impetus which a first job done with a will can exert

Trading a Life For a Minute

Hurry hurls multitudes of people to eternity every year

Watch the automobiles go over dangerous grade crossings on Sunday afternoons Car after car goes over the rails without the slightest pause Not one driver in a dozen shows up looks changes gears into second speed and then crosses that's why the Monday papers announce so many tragic funerals for the following Wednesday

Not only motorists are willing to trade their lives for a minute's saving of time Workers saving a few seconds take chances—and lose

The pity of accidents is that the hustler who pays with his life for a bit of carelessness so often leaves behind him a destitute widow and little children

In the Pennsylvania coal mines alone between 1916 and 1922 fatal accidents made 4 065 children fatherless The average age of these youngsters was six years and a half While coal mining is a hazardous occupation both operators and labor leaders are agreed that accidents could greatly be reduced if only the doctrines of carefulness could be implanted in every man Yet with all the safety first campaigns miners constantly overload elevators hop rides handle explosives like so much oatmeal risk gas and violate all the other rules of common sense and common safety

Other men are no different from miners Builders electrical workers steel men—right through the occupational list needless accidents are leaving widows and orphans every day

The next time you are inclined to take a chance just stop and think whether you deliberately can afford to gamble your life against the saving of a few seconds time Whether you're working or playing a deliberate [illegible] estimate of the possible gain will discourage you from risking your life and the future of your family

BIG WHEAT YIELD ON A GAGE FARM

Husa Loses One Year But Is a Big Winner the Following Season.

(Special to The Star)

WYMORE Neb July 30—Despite the fact that two or three wheat yields of around fifty bushels per acre have been reported from the Beatrice and Holmesville vicinity this year Wymore holds a record in several respects On the farm operated by Rudolph Husa slightly over five miles southeast of Wymore a ninety-eight acre field of wheat where threshing has just been completed returned 4 420 bushels of grain an average of slightly over 45 bushels an acre to the owner

All reports of higher yields in Gage county have been on much smaller fields The Husa land lays near the Blue river being second bottom land between farms owned by James Mirek and C B Rodgers It is one of the fields which was covered with a heavy crop of wheat ready for harvesting last year when the terrific hail storm of July 1 chopped it completely to the ground threshed the wheat pounded it into the ground and chopped up the straw Last fall the field came up green all over volunteer from the seed the hail planted This was not allowed to stand however Husa plowing it with the chopped up straw under in the fall and sowing new seed

While the condition and fertility of the ground and the kind of seed had considerable to do with the unusual yield of this field this year it is claimed that the perfect season is what made it rather than any effect the hail storm had upon it

After paying all expenses Husa will make a profit of $33 per acre or a total profit of approximately $3 200 from the 98 acres this year a better return than normally is received from this acreage in any two years George Hilder of southeast of Wymore threshed the wheat on this field the past week

LAND ECONOMY.

Fifty years ago land economy was unthought of in this state. The great stretches of Nebraska prairies afforded all the farming ground desired by those early pioneers. The richest and most fertile acres were chosen and the rest was left lying idle. That day has passed. With the meteoric growth of our state every bit of available soil has been or is being put to use. The farmers are continually studying methods for making the less fertile soil produce better crops. The agricultural extension department, of the state university is playing no small part in this soil saving work.

Soil erosion or washing is one of the most serious problems facing the grain farmer. Erosion removes the surface soil containing much of the organic matter and nitrogen so necessary to the best plant growth. It forms gullies and depressions, which cause a loss of time and land, inconvenience and breakage of machinery and primarily a reduction in crop production.

According to the government estimates, more than 4,000,000 acres in the United States have been ruined by erosion to the point of abandonment and 8,000,000 acres have been seriously damaged. Nebraska land is still in good condition generally but it is for the farmers to take advantage of the information afforded them by the extension department and see that every safeguard is used to prevent such destruction in the future. The department has issued a thirty-five page circular dealing with soil washing, its evils and methods of combatting it.

All soil is subject to erosion more or less but it is the rolling plains of southeastern Nebraska which are most seriously damaged. The rich, loose black loam, which forms the surface soil here is easily washed by the drenching rains that frequent this territory. The topography or slope of the land is an important factor in determining erosion. Flat level land is not eroded by water regardless of its texture. Rolling land is eroded rapidly.

Carelessness in farming operations is pointed out by the extension service as being the greatest cause for the formation of gullies. Dead furrows, lister furrows and depressions formed by single listing and in other ways, gather water and are the beginning of gullies. In some parts of the state where the land is rolling the common practice has been to list corn. This has resulted in much injury to the land through the removal of much good top soil and the formation of ditches the circular points out.

Diversified farming has proved to be more stable and profitable than straight grain farming and is especially important in keeping up the soil fertility and organic matter. An occasional seeding of land to hay, clover, alfalfa and other legumes is another method which is urged. This forms a network in the soil which prevents erosion as well as adding much to the organic matter.

Nebraska farmers have been blessed with the advantage of virgin soil and are not accustomed to the necessity of protecting it as are those in the eastern states. The time is rapidly approaching when such work will be necessary. Every farmer should attempt to stave off deterioration of the soil if this state is to hold its rank among the foremost grain-producing states of the nation.

MAKING THE ACQUAINTANCE OF MARS.

Within the next thirty days the planet Mars will reach a position within about 33,000,000 miles of the earth, bringing these two members of the solar system closer together than they have been during the last century or two. Astronomers all over the world are getting ready to take new observations of the neighboring sphere and find out as much as possible about its surface aspects. There is even some talk of flashing luminous signals from the earth to Mars in the hope of getting an answer from its inhabitants, if it has any.

As some of our popular fiction writers would say, the approaching conjunction of the earth and Mars on the same side of the sun intrigues us greatly. It arouses our keen curiosity to know more about the canals, the white polar caps, and other features of the Martian surface which have been the subject of so much speculation. We want the why and wherefore of these things explained. This is something the astronomers have never been able to do with any assurance that their theories are correct; but they are going to put forth their best efforts to solve the riddle this time.

Get up a little after midnight, any of these fine summer nights, and you will see off in the southern sky a brilliant red object which outshines everything else. That is Mars, shooting ahead through space at the rate of 7 miles per second. He has 18,000,000 miles to travel before reaching that point in his orbit nearest to the earth, which will be during the latter part of August. The earth, too, is moving ahead at a still faster rate, within the circle of Mars' path around the sun. It will pass Mars at the place of closest approach, and the two worlds will then recede from each other again until, some time along about next March or April they will be on opposite sides of the sun with more than 200,000,000 miles of intervening space between them.

Man is impressed with his own insignificance and the relative unimportance of our terrestrial orb in the universe, when he contemplates the spectacle of Mars. Here is a planet like our own which, without doubt, has at some time been inhabited by living beings. The photographs of its surface reveal markings which, to some astronomers, indicate the presence of such beings at this time. They see in the spider-web of so-called canals extending in every direction a gigantic irrigation system which the Martians have constructed to water their crop areas.

But other scientists of the heavens cite the rarity of the planet's atmosphere and the absence of cloud formations as making it virtually impossible for water to be taken up in the form of vapor and precipitated as rain. They argue from this that the "canals" are not what they seem, but something else; that the white polar caps are not ice, although they expand and contract in area as they are turned to and from the sun; and that life as we know it is impossible under conditions existing on Mars, particularly the intense cold which must prevail in such a rare atmosphere with the sun's rays furnishing only half as much heat as they do to us.

Whichever view may be correct, we earth denizens are made to realize how dependent we are on our natural environment. If anything happened to the sun, either to cool it off or to make it hotter, we should either be frozen to death or annihilated by heat. We are here, simply because our planet happens to be placed just right in the solar system and because we have the variety of elements, especially plenty of air and water, to sustain life.

For all we know, there are thousands of similar worlds scattered through the universe, each the offspring of a parent sun, on which life exists and civilization has been built up to a greater or less degree. The inhabitants of some of these may have progressed farther than ourselves and possess greater intelligence. But every one of these spheres is nothing more than a speck of cosmic dust, and its inhabitants are to the cosmic universe as the millions of minute animalculae contained in a drop of water which hangs from the point of a needle are to us. For the present, it remains one of the mysteries of the heavens. In the contemplation of this mystery, we may sing with Longfellow:

"There is no light in earth nor heaven
But the cold light of stars;
The first watch of the night is given
To the red planet Mars.

"Oh, star of strength! I see thee stand
And smile upon my pain;
Thou beckonest with thy mailed hand
And I am strong again."

A RAPID GROWTH.

Five years ago if a man had predicted that radio was to become one of the nations most important businesses by 1925 he would have been booed to silence. Yet today it stands thirty-fourth among all industries, ranking well with such others as motor vehicles, ship building and railroad car construction.

That same infant industry has more than made good such a prediction and without doubt holds the record among all modern inventions for rapidity of growth. Some figures quoted by Roger Williamson bring that fact home. In 1920 radio sales amounted to $2,000,000 and by 1923 they had jumped to sixty times that figure. On the basis of the 1923 figures it is estimated that during the present year some $350,000,000 will be spent for radio equipment.

For every dollar spent on furniture, thirty-three cents is spent for radio. For every dollar spent on boots and shoes, twenty-five cents is spent for radio. The value of the radio business is three-fourths of the jewelry business. Those are some of the comparisons set out by Mr. Rogers.

What the future holds it is impossible to predict. The radio may retain its popularity or it may justify the charge it was a fad.

THE "INDISPENSABLE NEWSPAPER."

The value of newspaper advertising is nowadays a matter that need not be argued, but a bulletin issued by the Nebraska Committee on Public Utilities, headed, "The Indispensable Newspaper," brings some new thoughts on the combination of newspaper advertising with other forms.

All forms of advertising have been used by public utility companies, says the bulletin, but adds that "the one that has proved indispensable is the newspaper."

It then continues:

"A single newspaper will often cover from 60 to 80 percent of the homes in its territory. Advertising space in that paper will give a much greater return per dollar spent than will any other form of advertising on which postage is spent.

"Secondly, people are accustomed to reading the newspaper. It is not difficult to get their attention, as in the case of the circular letter, the booklet or other forms of direct by mail advertising. Third, and best of all, it is timely. The advertiser is able to appeal to his audience by frequent advertisements.

Hence it appears that the number of jobholders it hired in 1900 is to the number of jobholders it hired in 1923 approximately as $97,408 is to $729,159.

Simple, isn't it? Immediately it becomes apparent that the number of jobholders in 1923 was increased by more than seven times the rate that obtained in 1900. From those figures it would be possible to prognosticate a little on the probable rate in 1934, but probably that would be too complicated for the tired business man. If he will tuck these figures away in his hat, though, he may see for himself how the land lies when te expenses of the Civil Service Commission for 1924 are revealed.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

The happiest men are not the ones
Who had the luck—or was it Fate?—
To start in life as rich men's sons
Or as descendants of the great;
They have no easy rows to hoe,
For what they do is always known;
Well watched wherever they may go,
Their souls can hardly be their own.

The luckiest men are not the men
Who feel Ambition's constant urge;
They may have moments, now and then,
When through them sweet emotions surge,
But pleasure seldom goes their ways,
They must be always pressing on,
Their hearts are saddened by delays,
The days they dream of never dawn.

The happiest men are not the small,
Unnoticed ones whose wants are few,
Who never learn to care at all
For honors that the wise pursue;
Their troubles may not long remain
To fret them or disturb their sleep.
But such enjoyment as they gain
Is crude and primitive and cheap.

The luckiest men are those who strut
With pride that never fails nor flees,
Who think themselves important, but
Whose measure covers few degrees—
Men in whose little minds one thought,
And only one, can generate,
Who never fear that they may not
Have talents that are truly great.

A BIT OF HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

DO ONE THING AT A TIME.

Sometimes things pile up so thick and fast it seems as if it were impossible to surmount them.

At such time do you run up and down, hither and thither, not knowing which to attack first?

In your unrest and uneasiness you accomplish nothing.

If you would set yourself at some one task and do it with your might till it was finished, another would suggest itself as next in order, and finally order would come out of chaos.

It is because you waste so much time doing nothing that you do not get done what you should.

To know that even one thing is done and in order, is a great encouragement to go on with the next duty.

So set about it with a will to get something done.

And do not stop till the first job is completed.

Take a breath, and dig into the next task, and you will find the whole accomplished on the impetus which a first job, done with a will, can exert.

Daily Health Talks

Trading a Life For a Minute.

Hurry hurls multitudes of people to eternity every year.

Watch the automobiles go over dangerous grade crossings on Sunday afternoons. Car after car goes over the rails without the slightest pause. Not one driver in a dozen shows up, looks, changes gears into second speed and then crosses that's why the Monday papers announce so many tragic funerals for the following Wednesday.

Not only motorists are willing to trade their lives for a minute's saving of time. Workers, saving a few seconds, take chances—and lose.

The pity of accidents is that the hustler who pays with his life for a bit of carelessness so often leaves behind him a destitute widow and little children.

In the Pennsylvania coal mines alone, between 1916 and 1922 fatal accidents made 4,065 children fatherless. The average age of these youngsters was six years and a half. While coal mining is a hazardous occupation, both operators and labor leaders are agreed that accidents could greatly be reduced if only the doctrines of "carefulness" could be implanted in every man. Yet, with all the "safety first" campaigns, miners constantly overload elevators, hop rides, handle explosives like so much oatmeal, risk gas, and violate all the other rules of common sense and common safety.

Other men are no different from miners. Builders, electrical workers, steel men—right through the occupational list—needless accidents are leaving widows and orphans every day.

The next time you are inclined to "take a chance" just stop and think whether you deliberately can afford to gamble your life against the saving of a few seconds time. Whether you're working or playing, a deliberate pause and a deliberate estimate of the possible gain will discourage you from risking your life and the future of your family.

Questions and Answers.

Your question on health topics will be answered by Dr. Dorothy Bocker if you address her in care of this newspaper.

E. D.—I have had rheumatic pains of more or less severity off and on all winter. I thought that with the summer this would leave but it seems to persist. What do you think is the reason and what should I do for it?

Answer—You have a focus of infection that continues to pour infection into your system regardless of the weather. You must go to a physician who will locate the focus for you. Possibly your teeth are in bad condition.

PEACHES AND PERSIMMONS

Friends are people who like you in spite of what you are.

So live that you need never ask the editor to leave out the story.

It is rank flattery when a wife accuses a bald husband of infidelity.

There's one consoling feature about our national debt. We owe it to ourselves.

Most of the children who ride for half fare are strangely large for their age.

A soft answer may turn away wrath, but it doesn't turn away a peddler.

After all, the only real difference between the girls of this generation and the girls of the last generation is one generation.

Progressives seldom get anywhere, but they make the conservatives advance at times.

The easiest way to avoid changing tires on a sunbaked highway is to be a pretty girl.

So many out-of-door men smoke pipes, and that is all right if they will stay out-of-doors.

Peace is a season during which former doughboys outgrow their desire to lick a first sergeant.

It doesn't count as a sure enough lie when an old bachelor is asked his opinion of a new baby.

Paddock and the other boys make fast time, but they should see a colored bootlegger pacing a cop.

When you see blisters and corns and callouses in the palms of the modern horny-handed son it means that he's been gripping his brassie too tightly.

There are too many resort towns where one can't find anything to do except light another cigarette.

Some children remain unspoiled and some visit their doting grandmothers every day or two.

A free people may have no respect for a king's divine right, but it stands in awe of a wicked left.

The pedestrian has the legal right-of-way, but he shouldn't insist upon it unless his family is well provided for.

Correct this sentence: "He hasn't kissed me in three months," said the wife; "but I know he isn't interested in any other woman."

Creeth Known To Judge Thompson

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., July 30.—Burgess Creeth, the Los Angeles aviator, killed during the trying out of a new air craft called the cabinplane, was a very close pal of Lloyd Thompson, son of Supreme Judge and Mrs. W. H. Thompson, of this city. Creeth formerly lived at Hastings. The two went to France together, both in the air service. After the war they went to California together and there Judge Thompson became intimately acquainted with Creeth. As with his own son, Judge Thompson tried to discourage the young man from following aviation as a vocation, yet awhile, because of the risks. But Creeth was thoroughly devoted to flying.

BIG WHEAT YIELD ON A GAGE FARM

Husa Loses One Year But Is a Big Winner the Following Season.

(Special to The Star)

WYMORE, Neb., July 30.—Despite the fact that two or three wheat yields of around fifty bushels per acre have been reported from the Beatrice and Holmesville vicinity this year, Wymore holds a record in several respects. On the farm operated by Rudolph Husa, slightly over five miles southeast of Wymore, a ninety-eight acre field of wheat where treshing has just been completed, returned 4,420 bushels of grain, an average of slightly over 45 bushels an acre, to the owner.

All reports of higher yields in Gage county have been on much smaller fields. The Husa land lays near the Blue river, being second bottom land, between farms owned by James Marek and C. B. Rodgers. It is one of the fields which was covered with a heavy crop of wheat, ready for harvesting last year, when the terrific hail storm of July 1, chopped it completely to the ground, threshed the wheat, pounded it into the ground, and chopped up the straw. Last fall the field came up green all over, volunteer from the seed the hail planted. This was not allowed to stand, however, Husa plowing it, with the chopped up straw under in the fall, and sowing new seed.

While the condition and fertility of the ground, and the kind of seed, had considerable to do with the unusual yield of this field this year, it is claimed that the perfect season is what made it, rather than any effect the hail storm had upon it.

After paying all expenses, Husa will make a profit of $33 per acre, or a total profit of approximately $3,200 from the 93 acres this year, a better return than normally is received from this acreage in any two years. George Hilder, of southeast of Wymore, threshed the wheat on this field the past week.

Hartman's Wounds Are Not Serious

FREMONT, Neb., July 30.—George Hartman, 30, who attempted to kill himself, after he had met with persisted and firm refusal at the door of his wife's father, P. E. Haines, will probably recover. The bullets from his 32-caliber pistol did not penetrate his lungs, physicians said after an examination. Hartman at the hospital has insisted that his wife remain with him. She had sued him for divorce last week. Hartman penned a note to Sheriff W. C. Condit, in which he said that he could not live without Marie.

According to Mrs. Hartman, she left Hartman at North Bend last week because he had refused to go to work. She had been earning the living, she said. Upon her arrival in Fremont, she went to work as a clerk in the grocery store conducted in South Fremont by her father.

Bond Issue For a Filtration Plant

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., July 30.—A special election will be held in Beatrice on August 5 to vote bonds in the sum of $70,000 for a filtration plant here. Some oppose the filter proposition while others are in favor of it, and there promises to be a warm fight over the question on election day.

WAGON BRIDGE TO SPAN BIG MUDDY

Rulo Selected As Site For Highway Over Missouri River.

(Special to The Star.)

FALLS CITY, Neb., July 30.—Southeastern Nebraska and northwestern Missouri, separated by the Missouri river, may be linked together as a solid trade territory if the plans for the construction of a wagon bridge over the river at Rulo materialize. Linking of the two states would open a vast, new trade territory for Falls City, according to the local chamber of commerce, and a joint committee representing more than a dozen towns in the two states is now at work perfecting plans for launching the movement.

Towns on the Missouri side of the river are evincing as much interest in the movement as the Nebraska towns, all agreeing that the bridge would be of mutual benefit.

Armagost Family Holds a Reunion

DAVID CITY, Neb., July 30.—On Sunday a family reunion of David B. Armagost and his children was held at the home of his daughter Mrs. W. C. Buchta, of this city. A dinner was served at 1 o'clock. In attendance at the reunion were David Armagost, Will Armagost, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. GOOCH'S BEST BREAD

GOOCH'S BEST Bread is the favorite choice of discriminating housewives. They like it for its appetizing flavor and its rich nourishment as well as for its delicate, creamy texture and tender, golden brown crusts.

We recommend this splendid loaf to all who put goodness ahead of price in their selection of bread. Such people, indeed, are the ones who exercise true economy, for they realize that the best is the most economical in the long run. GOOCH'S BEST gives proof of this statement.

SQUARE DEAL BREAD

Here is a loaf you'll like better than any premium loaf, and it saves you the price of the premium. Instead of "giving" you some worthless gee-gaw with your bread, we have reduced the price to 12 cents a loaf and give you the difference in price.

You will find SQUARE DEAL a genuinely good and appetizing loaf. It is not so high in food value as GOOCH'S BEST, but it is also lower in price.

Your grocer has GOOCH'S BEST and SQUARE DEAL for you today.

The American woods are full of them so are the mountain and lake regions to say nothing of the thousands of places along rivers and smaller streams and the sea coasts.

As has always been the case Denver and Boulder Colo and many other places in that state offer the vacationists untold opportunities. There are trips into the mountain to the lakes and woods on the national reserves and scenic splendors surpassed nowhere on earth.

Minnesota's ten thousand island region also offers rest and recreation for the work weary pleasure and rest seeker. And already hudreds of Nebraskans are resting there or have been and returned feeling like new people. Many Nebraskans have also availed themselves of a few days a week or two weeks pleasure at the northern Iowa lakes Clear Lake Lake Okoboji and a dozen or more others all of which offer special inducements to the sojourner there.

A day of Chicago sights folowed by a steamer trip to Buffalo Detroit Cleveland and return over the placid waters of Lake Michigan Lake Huron and Lake Erie and a day at Niagara Falls makes one of the most pleasurable journeys a vacationist could take. On a trip of this kind is also included a visit to St Claire, and the 30 000 islands of Georgian Bay.

GRAIN MARKETS

CHICAGO Ill July 30

WHEAT—General selling of wheat and a decided setback in prices resulted early today from rains in the Canadian northwest together with a sharp break in quotations at Winnipeg and Liverpool Reports were also current which indicated that the total wheat yield in the United States for 1924 would exceed last year's total Opening prices which ranged from ? to ?c lower September $1 31½@1 ?¼ and December $1 34½@1 35 were followed by a slight further decline and then something of a rally

Subsequently ... selling on the part of houses with northwestern and southwestern connections had a depressing effect on values A tendency to increase estimates of the Canadian crop acted also as a bearish influence The close was ... net lower September $1 31⅝@1 31 ? and December $1 34½@1 34¾

CORN—Corn and oats showed lack of fresh buying support selling pressure in corn was directed mostly against the new crop deliveries After opening ½ to ?¼ lower December 9 @98c the corn prices continued weak

Better weather and improved crop reports were an incentive to sellers The close was nervous ... to 1⅜c net lower December 9?⅛@98c

OATS—Oats started ⅛ to 1⅜c off September 5?@50¼c and later showed but little power to rally

OVERRULES STATE IN FRANKS CASE

resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment

It is true that the counsel who might be appointed by the court to defend a man would have no right to waive that man's constitutional right and this holds true right now I have a right to know whether these boys were competent to plead guilty through their counsel or on their own volition

There are different degrees of insanity

Not in law interrupted Mr Crowe

Caverly Disagrees

C[illegible] ed Judge Caverly the laws of Illinois recognizes degrees of murder and so we must consider degrees of responsibility

But under the law a person either is responsible or not responsible for his acts insisted Mr Crowe Mitigation goes only to facts in a case

Here is a cold blooded murder without a defense in fact and they try to escape the consequences by entering a plea of insanity

Who said they are offering a plea of insanity? said the judge I have a perfect right to go into the state of a defendant's mind and learn what that had to do with the circumstances of the crime

I agree that this court cannot pass on a question of insanity but unless I conclude that these men must be insane at which point I must impanel a jury I can inquire into the mental circumstances of their acts

We are not going into the insanity question at all announced Walter Bachrach for the defense

Claims Right To Argue

I insist when the court indicates he is with the defense the state has a right to argue Has insanity justice as a plea?

The court answered yes but at the same time Darrow and Bachrach defense counsel joined in a no

Go ahead with your authorities not as to insanity but as to mitigation because of state of mind the judge said to the state Go ahead as to the Illinois Supreme court

One of the state's attorneys attempted to cite from Blackstone and Judge Caverly interrupted with From the Illinois Supreme court and the counter was made The Illinois Supreme court is founded on Blackstone You cannot escape it

Well well try it replied Judge Caverly

If there is any question of mitigation because of insanity then it properly becomes a case for a jury trial the state persisted

Clarence S Darrow chief defense counsel interrupted with one of his cool infrequent remarks

Darrow Interrupts

The statute provides the court may listen to anything on mitigation The legislature has given wide latitude Anything as to mitigation because of condition of mind is admissible

Thomas Marshall indictment expert for the state's attorney maintained that the defense was trying to give mental insanity the effect in law of legal insanity

Walter Bachrach cited authorities to prove the defense contention that the court might exercise discretion previous good condition

He referred the court to the Tracy case in Nebraska which he said bore out this contention

The argument reached the stage where it was a squabble with five or six attorneys and the court all talking at once

Leopold and Loeb leaned forward slightly in their chairs and took in every word

Finally the court repeated that he was not going to admit any testimony at this hearing to show the defendants insane but that he would certainly wish to know just what mitigating circumstances might have had an effect on their actions

At one point when the argument waxed warm State's Attorney Crowe heatedly remarked to the court If you hear this evidence as to insanity and you sentence these men to life imprisonment and Mr Darrow takes the case to the Supreme court I'll confess error

Darrow Breaks In

As Mr Darrow broke in with No no there'd be nothing

Judge Caverly interjected I do not care what you gentlemen do when I get through

Oh that's ridiculous the court remarked with asperity when Mr Crowe replied yes to the judge's query If a man comes here and puts on a witness who says This man is insane must I call a jury

There is no authority in the world on it the judge further remarked

I have a right to listen to any evidence on mitigation said the judge After I have heard it what weight I give it no one will know but myself I do not know what the defense is going to present

Loeb Breaks Into Smile

As the state continued to cite authorities Mr Darrow sat with Leopold and Loeb and the three were in deep conversation It ended with Loeb breaking into one of his expansive smiles and Darrow turning his attention to the group of arguing attorneys before the bar

Jacob Loeb uncle of the defendant appeared to follow the argument with interest but Allen Loeb brother of Dick and Leopold's father and brother kept their eyes on the prisoners rather than the group before the bench

A re-arrangement of seats which brought the defense attorneys nearer the witness stand operated also to place State's Attorney Crowe within a few inches of Loeb's elbow Mr Crowe and Mr Darrow gossiped a bit in an undertone but Loeb and Leopold gave no indication of the near presence of their prosecutor

Dr White sat patiently on the stand waiting for the court to decide finally whether he could testify

Court recessed for luncheon at 12 30 p m with the argument unfinished

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, July 30.

Stock prices surged upward in the early part of today's trading under the leadership of U. S. Steel, but reacted later on a wave of profit taking. Sales approximated 1,200,000 shares.

Declaration of a 50 cent extra dividend by the U. S. Steel corporation for the third successive quarter lifted stock prices higher at the opening of today's market. Steel common opened 1⅝ points higher at 104⅞ and gains averaging about a point were scored by pivotal issues, including Baldwin, American Can, General Electric and several minor shares.

Independent steel shares were helped by E. H. Gary's statement that there had been considerable improvement in stel buying since July 1. United States Steel advanced further to 105, the highest price reached in several months.

Foreign exchanges opened steady.

Establishing a new high record of 106 1-8 on the current movement as buying orders continued to pour, United States Steel led a vigorous upswing, which embraced the pivotal industrials, specialties, rails, tobaccos and merchandising shares. The current steel trade reviews reporting a measureable increase in steel buying for the third successive week, were especially stimulating. A flock of new top prices for the year included Sears Roebuck preferred. Omaha preferred and Atlantic coast line up 1 to 4 points.

Call money opened at 2 per cent.

Profit taking later interrupted the advance, causing recessions of 1 to almost 5 points in some of the rail, sugar, chemical, rubber and merchandising stocks.

The closing was irregular.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 30.

WHEAT—General selling of wheat and a decided setback in prices resulted early today from rains in the Canadian northwest together with a sharp break in quotations at Winnipeg and at Liverpool. Reports were also current which indicated that the total wheat yield in the United States for 1924 would exceed last year's total. Opening prices, which ranged from ½ to 2¼c lower, September $1.31½@1.32¼ and December $1.34½@1.35, were followed by a slight further decline and then something of a rally.

Subsequently, persistent selling on the part of houses with northwestern and southwestern connections had a depressing effect on values. A tendency to increase estimates of the Canadian crop acted also as a bearish influence. The close was insettled, ⅞ to 1⅝c net lower, September $1.31⅝@1.31⅞ and December, $1.34½@1.31¾.

CORN—Corn and oats showed lack of fresh buying support, selling pressure in corn was directed mostly against the new crop deliveries. After opening from ½ to 2¼c lower, December 97@98c, the corn prices continued weak.

Better weather and improved crop reports were an incentive to sellers. The close was nervous, ¾ to 1⅜c net lower, December 97⅞@98c.

OATS—Oats started ⅛ to 1⅜c off, September 50@50¼c, and later showed but little power to rally.

PROVISIONS—Downturns in hog quotations weakened thep rovision market.

resulted in a sentence of life imprisonment.

"It is true that the counsel who might be appointed by the court to defend a man would have no right to waive that man's constitutional right and this holds true right now. I have a right to know whether these boys were competent to plead guilty through their counsel or on their own volition.

"There are different degrees of insanity."

"Not in law," interrupted Mr. Crowe.

Caverly Disagrees.

"Oh, yes, there are," rejoined Judge Caverly, "the laws of Illinois recognizes degrees of murder and so we must consider degrees of responsibility."

"But under the law a person either is responsible or not responsible for his acts," insisted Mr. Crowe. "Mitigation goes only to facts in a case.

"Here is a cold blooded murder, without a defense in fact, and they try to escape the consequences by entering a plea of insanity."

"Who said they are offering a plea of insanity?" said the judge. "I have a perfect right to go into the state of a defendant's mind and learn what that had to do with the circumstances of the crime.

"I agree that this court cannot pass on a question of insanity, but unless I conclude that these men must be insane, at which point I must impanel a jury, I can inquire into the mental circumstances of their acts.

"We are not going into the insanity question at all," announced Walter Bachrach for the defense.

Claims Right To Argue.

"I insist when the court indicates he is with the defense the state has a right to argue. Has insanity justice as a plea?"

The court answered "yes," but at the same time Darrow and Bachrach, defense counsel, joined in a "no."

"Go ahead with your authorities, not as to insanity, but as to mitigation, because of state of mind," the judge said to the state. "Go ahead as to the Illinois Supreme court."

One of the state's attorneys attempted to cite from Blackstone, and Judge Caverly interrupted with: "From the Illinois Supreme court," and the counter was made: "The Illinois Supreme court is founded on Blackstone. You cannot escape it."

"Well, we'll try it," replied Judge Caverly.

"If there is any question of mitigation because of insanity then it properly becomes a case for a jury trial," the state persisted.

Clarence S. Darrow, chief defense counsel, interrupted with one of his cool, infrequent remarks:

Darrow Interrupts.

"The statute provides the court may listen to anything on mitigation. The legislature has given wide latitude. Anything as to mitigation because of condition of mind is admissible."

Thomas Marshall, indictment expert for the state's attorney, maintained that the defense was trying to give mental insanity the effect in law of legal insanity.

Walter Bachrach cited authorities to prove the defense contention that the court might exercise discretion previous good character and mental condition.

He referred the court to the Tracy case in Nebraska, which he said, bore out this contention.

The argument reached the stage where it was a squabble with five or six attorneys and the court all talking at once.

Leopold and Loeb leaned forward slightly in their chairs and took in every word.

Finally the court repeated that he was not going to admit any testimony at this hearing to show the defendants insane, but that he would certainly wish to know just what mitigating circumstances might have had an effect on their actions.

At one point when the argument waxed warm, State's Attorney Crowe heatedly remarked to the court: "If you hear this evidence as to insanity and you sentence these men to life imprisonment and Mr. Darrow takes the case to the Supreme court I'll confess error."

Darrow Breaks In.

As Mr. Darrow broke in with: "No, no, there'd be nothing—."

Judge Caverly interjected: "I do not care what you gentlemen do when I get through."

"Oh, that's ridiculous," the court remarked with asperity when Mr. Crowe replied "yes" to the judge's query: "If a man comes here and puts on a witness who says: 'This man is insane,' must I call a jury?"

"There is no authority in the world on it," the judge further remarked.

"I have a right to listen to any evidence on mitigation," said the judge. "After I have heard it, what weight I give it no one will know but myself. I do not know what the defense is going to present."

Loeb Breaks Into Smile.

As the state continued to cite authorities, Mr. Darrow sat with Leopold and Loeb, and the three were in deep conversation. It ended with Loeb breaking into one of his expansive smiles, and Darrow turning his attention to the group of arguing attorneys before the bar.

Jacob Loeb, uncle of the defendant, appeared to follow the argument with interest, but Allen Loeb, brother of Dick, and Leopold's father and brother, kept their eyes on the prisoners rather than the group before the bench.

A re-arrangement of seats, which brought the defense attorneys nearer the witness stand, operated also to place State's Attorney Crowe within a few inches of Loeb's elbow. Mr. Crowe and Mr. Darrow gossiped a bit in an undertone, but Loeb and Leopold gave no indication of the near presence of their prosecutor.

Dr. White sat patiently on the stand waiting for the court to decide finally whether he could testify.

Court recessed for luncheon at 12:30 p. m., with the argument unfinished.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

People born on this date under this sign usually have a strong, wiry body, not over tall, but well proportioned, broad shoulders, round heads, with light or ruddy complexions, strong deep voices, and large eyes, and they are often under a peculiar influx.

Leo, the sign of the Lion, governs this date, and the governing planet is the Sun. This accounts for the fiery disposition of these natives. The astral colors are red and green.

Those born under this combination are in some respects near of kin to thosew ho come under the head of the same triplicity. They would rather plan their work, and are by no means fond of details.

The Star Want Ads will assist you if you desire a second-hand automobile at a reasonable bargain. Every morning and night they run columns of information on this subject. Use them daily.

Tulsa Overtakes Links and Wins, 9-6, Second Game of Series

OILER ONSLAUGHT DEFEATS LINCOLN

Tulsa Hops On Beck For Six Runs In One Inning and Wins, 9 to 6.

Links Drive Black From the Mound, Smacking Ball For Four Home Runs.

WESTERN LEAGUE WEATHER
Lincoln at Tulsa: cloudy
Omaha at St Joseph, clear

Des Moines at Wichita, Clear

(Special to The Star)

TULSA Okla July 30—A smear of six runs in Tulsa's sixth frame turned the tide against the Links yesterday the Oilers winning by a margin of 9 to 6. Beck former Tri-State league hurler did a good job of baffling the home sluggers until his blowup in the sixth but let down under pressure and the Oilers clouted their way to victory Anderson superseded Beck during the sixth-inning onslaught the Oilers counting two runs while the relief pitcher was in action

Although taking the short end of the count, the Links did considerable execution with their bats earning the commendation of Tulsa fans as a battling ball club that is hard to beat

The Links poled ten safe blows their harvest including four home runs—two by Lazzeri and one each by Gunther and McDaniel

Southpaw Karl Black started against the Clarke clan but failed to go the route The Links spanked him for one marker in the second and repeated in the fourth

Three Lincoln runners swarmed across the plate in the fifth Lazzeri inaugurated the sixth with his second circuit drive and when McDaniel slapped a line single Black faded from the mound and Tesar went to the rescue

Beck Ascended In Sixth

With the score 6 to 2 in Lincoln's favor the visitors looked like winners but Beck's blowup soon altered the arrangement Two bases on ball four consecutive hits and McDaniel's error accounted for five Tulsa runs Anderson came on to succeed Beck and Casey's single manufactured the sixth run Casey was snagged at second in a vain effort to make two bases on his blow but the Oilers were in front to stay to the windup of the battle

Manager Josh Clarke and Pitcher Art Rasmussen were banished from the park for panning Umpire Collins decisions on balls and strikes Manager Josh bluntly charged Collins with making the Oilers a present of the ball game Mike Lile or Bugs Grover will draw the pitching assignment in Wednesday's game third and last of the series Tuesday's score

NOTES OF THE GAME

Chill McDaniel was the hitting star for the Links In four trips to the plate Chill knocked out one home run and two singles

---

Moore flashy centerfielder added a single and double to the Links swat column

---

Lazzeri had his good eye on the ball while Karl Black was pitching In four trips to the plate he whaled out two home runs both far over the left field fence He sent Austin back against the left field wall to pull down one hard hit fly He hit a weak roller to Washburn for his fourth attempt

---

Josh Clarke boss of the Links grew a little too loud with his objections to the way Umpire Collins was calling balls and strikes on Moore in the sixth inning so Joshua was chased from the park

---

Art Rasmussen took a hand in the argument and he also was shooed from the orchard

---

STATE NET MEET PROVES POPULAR

Entries Roll In For Tennis Compet to Open Here Next Monday.

BY GREGG McBRIDE

Entries starting to roll in for the annual Nebraska state tennis tournament which will be played on the University of Nebraska courts next week indicate that all the big guns in Nebraska racquet circles will be on hand Monday when play is launched for the Cornhusker title

The showing made by Ralph Powell David Davis and Don Elliott in the Missouri Valley and Interstate tournament at Sioux City gives promise of some exceptional exhibitions of the court sport in the Nebraska racquet carnival The field at Sioux City is one of the fastest in the annals of Missouri Valley tournaments but the Cornhusker players are giving a good account of themselves

Powell Davis and Art Scribner were left in the race when fourth round play began Elliott fell before the smashing attack of Llwell of Detroit but not until he had forced the Detroiter to go his best in a three-set match

Davis Looks Good

Davis surprised tourney followers by handing Woodward Brown of St Louis a crushing defeat in straight sets Davis came from behind a 5-game handicap to capture the first set 9 7 indicating that the Omaha city champion has the stuff

A touch of the orient was added to the tournament with the receipt of the entry of I H Mihara now a resident of North Platte Mihara a Japanese high school lad who is said to be one of the leading players in his section

Two Omaha veteran racqueteers are paired up for the doubles—Ralph Newell and T F Spike Kennedy Newell paired with Davis won the Omaha city team event Kennedy and Art Scribner were the runnersup

Fast Junior Competition

The junior competition also promises to be keen Headlining the list are Al Finkel and Gordon Diesing of Omaha Finkel won the state title last year while Diesing was runnerup

Alfred Calvert of York will also factor in the titular fight He looked good in the interscholastic tournament held at the university last spring and has been improving throughout the season Another high school champion to enter is Maurice McAvoy of Fairmont He is county high school champion and has been disposing of the seniors in his territory with surprising regularity

Ben Stilphen and J D Ringwalt two Omaha boys who have been going across big in the Sioux City junior tourney are also entered Bill Marshall and Stanton Kennedy are another Omaha team to enter the lists

Tom Elliott brother of Don plans to come down from West Point for the tourney

Lincoln juniors who will compete include Sig North Mark Crewdson, Kermit Yetter and Leon Thomas

Lincoln Quartet to York

A quartet of Lincoln tennis players will journey to York Thursday afternoon for a dual match with a team made up of York and Aurora players

Following the state tournament the Lincoln tennis team plans a series of inter city matches with Seward York Hastings and Omaha

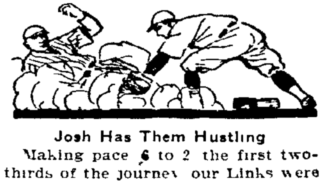
HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL



Josh Has Them Hustling

Making pace 6 to 2 the first two-thirds of the journey our Links were licked Tuesday, 9 to 6, by virtue of Tulsa's six run assault on Pitcher Beck in the sixth frame But the Links were out there hustling and battling for the ball game which salves the defeat Tulsa scribes have joined in the refrain first sounded by writers at Wichita and St Joseph "The Links are nobody's setup and would go in any league That's the daily story as Manager Josh and his athletes make their swing around the southern arc of the league circle How different from the wails flashed back to Lincoln early in the season!

Pug Griffin graduate of Lincoln sandlot baseball is pursuing the pastime with the Dallas Texas leaguers this summer and going at a satisfactory clip The latest batch of Texas loop averages credits Pug with the comfortable average of 345 which ties him for fifth place in the individual batting table The Texas circuit recently split its season and Pug's team is setting the pace for the second race with Fort Worth, last year's flag winner hot on the Dallas club's heels

Lefty Fussell former semi pro twirler in Nebraska independent circles is serving his slants for the Wichita Falls club in the Texas league His team is tied for fourth place in the pennant campaign but Lefty is front running his club with a record of ten victories and seven defeats

---

Monday's Des Moines Wichita game in the Kansas burg was reeled off in 75 minutes The home bugs liked it as the Isbells won

---

Oklahoma City writers are pounding away at Umpires Hayes and Gaffney conferring the title of Jesse James on Hayes and Henry Starr on Gaffney All over the circuit with the one exception of Omaha Hayes and Gaffney have been put on the frying pan yet League Prexy Tearney assures us that the critics of these two arbiters are merely giving an exhibition of dense ignorance that Hayes and Haffney are rated as two of the most efficient umpires in all the minor leagues Prex Al of course is letting his head rattle when he talks that way The nearest he has come to scanning the work of the Hayes-Gaffney duo is to lounge in a rocking chair in his Chicago cabaret

Links No Longer Joke

Tulsa World The Links are not the joke of any league at this writing There are a number of new faces including the chubby physiognomy of Joshua Clark who has supplanted Howard Wakefield as manager and the newcomers apparently are more adept in the gentle art of pestering the noble agate than were the boys who have been given the gate

Stokes Disobeyed Orders

Tulsa dispatch to Des Moines Register Disobeying of Manager Corriden's orders by Art Stokes was one of the primary causes of Des Moines third straight defeat at the hands of the Tulsa Oilers With two men down and Leliveld on second the manager ordered Flippin walked to get to Voigt who had appeared weak in the hitting role throughout the day

Stokes apparently thought he knew more than Corriden one of the smartest baseball men in the game today and used his own judgment with the result that Flippin hit a home run and sent the count 5 to 2 in Tulsa's favor and the two runs that Des Moines scored in the eighth inning did nothing more than make it close

Foiling the Bandits

Oklahoma City Oklahoman Perhaps the most disappointed individuals among the scores of disappointed Monday were Jesse James Gaffney and Henry Starr Hayes the prize baseball hijackers of Cabaret Al Tearney's umpiring staff

Inning after inning went by with no chance on close decisions to display either their ignorance or their impudence

Moreover being just as peeved at Denver as at Oklahoma City they hardly knew which way they would flop

They compromised by Jesse James Gaffney calling many a strike a ball on Freeman while Henry Starr Hayes threw his hooks into the Indians when he declared Kahdot out on a close play when the little Indian attempted to steal second

Yanks Still Making Race

Still setting the pace the Yankees today continue to show the way to Detroit by a full game in the American league flag chase By coming to life to annex the final from the pesky Athletics to whom they had dropped two in a row the Tigers held their own Washington slipped a notch through its loss to Cleveland and now pursues Cobb's outfit at a distance of a game and a half

Although Pennock has seen better days on the hurling hill the effective hitting of his teammates carried him along to an easy 9 to 4 victory In clouting his thirty second homer of the season and his thirteenth of the month Babe Ruth tied his best previous monthly average established in June 1921 the year he set his home run record of 59

Detroit tied the score in the ninth and won out in the eleventh 4 to 3 Airtight pitching by Shaute enabled Cleveland to gallop away with a 4 to 2 win from Washington

[illegible] Boston had the misfortune to lose to St Louis 3 to 0 despite the fact that the Browns obtained only three hits off their combined delivery

Pitcher Poles Two Homers

P[illegible] ever better than he pitched Arthur Nehf of the Giants beat the Cardinals practically single handed 5 to 2 Nehf clouted out two home runs

Six hits and three runs were the measure of the Phillies offensive against Kaufmann and the Cubs walked off with a 4 to 3 decision

While Kremer held Boston to three hits Pittsburgh hammered out an 8 to 1 triumph over the Braves

Brooklyn leads Cincinnati by only a game and a half today as a result of its their loss to the Reds in five games The westerners got 12 runs against the Robins 2

(Special to The Star)

TULSA, Okla., July 30.—A smear of six runs in Tulsa's sixth frame turned the tide against the Links yesterday, the Oilers winning by a margin of 9 to 6. Beck, former Tri-State league hurler, did a good job of baffling the home sluggers until his blowup in the sixth, but let down under pressure and the Oilers clouted their way to victory. Anderson superseded Beck during the sixth-inning onslaught, the Oilers counting two runs while the relief pitcher was in action.

Although taking the short end of the count, the Links did considerable execution with their bats, earning the commendation of Tulsa fans as a battling ball club that is hard to beat.

The Links poled ten safe blows, their harvest including four home runs—two by Lazzeri and one each by Gunther and McDaniel.

Southpaw Karl Black started against the Clarke clan, but failed to go the route. The Links spanked him for one marker in the second and repeated in the fourth.

Three Lincoln runners swarmed across the plate in the fifth. Lazzeri inaugurated the sixth with his second circuit drive and when McDaniel slapped a line single, Black faded from the mound and Tesar went to the rescue.

Beck Ascended In Sixth.

With the score 6 to 2 in Lincoln's favors the visitors looked like winners, but Beck's blowup soon altered the arrangement. Two bases on balls, four consecutive hits and McDaniel's error accounted for five Tulsa runs. Anderson came on to succeed Beck and Casey's single manufactured the sixth run. Casey was snagged at second in a vain effort to make two bases on his blow, but the Oilers were in front to stay to the windup of the battle.

Manager Josh Clarke and Pitcher Art Rasmussen were banished from the park for panning Umpire Collins' decisions on balls and strikes. Manager Josh bluntly charged Collins with making the Oilers a present of the ball game. Mike File or Bugs Grover will draw the pitching assignment in Wednesday's game, third and last of the series. Tuesday's score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Chili McDaniel was the hitting star for the Links. In four trips to the plate, Chili knocked out one home run and two singles.

Moore, flashy centerfielder, added a single and double to the Links' swat column.

Lazzeri had his good eye on the ball while Karl Black was pitching. In four trips to the plate he whaled out two home runs, both far over the left field fence. He sent Austin back against the left field wall to pull down one hard hit fly. He hit a weak roller to Washburn for his fourth attempt.

Josh Clarke, boss of the Links, grew a little too loud with his objections to the way Umpire Collins was calling balls and strikes on Moore in the sixth inning, so Joshua was chased from the park.

Art Rasmussen took a hand in the argument and he also was shooed from the orchard.

Bugs Grover broke into the lineup in the eighth as a pinch-hitter for Dave Lamb and the best Bert could do was a pop fly to Washburn.

Purdy, who hit like a house afire Monday, came forth as a pinch-hitter for Anderson in the ninth. The best Purdy could do was to force Chavez, who had walked.

Skinner, who had a perfect day at bat Monday, failed to get a thing that even approached a hit Tuesday.

Pitcher Beck got a couple of hits, both clean singles to center.

There were no spectacular fielding plays Tuesday. All the knocks were either base hits or easy chances.

Besides the four home runs, Moore's double was the only extra base hit the Links gathered.

The Links were able to pole only one single off Tesar in four innings.

STATE NET MEET PROVES POPULAR

Entries Roll In For Tennis Compet to Open Here Next Monday.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

Entries starting to roll in for the annual Nebraska state tennis tournament, which will be played on the University of Nebraska courts next week, indicate that all the big guns in Nebraska racquet circles will be on hand Monday when play is launched for the Cornhusker title.

The showing made by Ralph Powell, David Davis and Don Elliott in the Missouri Valley and Interstate tournament at Sioux City gives promise of some exceptional exhibitions of the court sport in the Nebraska racquet carnival. The field at Sioux City is one of the fastest in the annals of Missouri Valley tournaments, but the Cornhusker players are giving a good account of themselves.

Powell, Davis and Art Scribner were left in the race when fourth round play began. Elliott fell before the smashing attack of Elwell of Detroit but not until he had forced the Detroiter to go his best in a three-set match.

Davis Looks Good.

Davis surprised tourney followers by handing Woodward Brown of St. Louis a crushing defeat in straight sets. Davis came from behind a 5-2 game handicap to capture the first set, 9-7, indicating that the Omaha city champion has the stuff.

A touch of the orient was added to the tournament with the receipt of the entry of I. H. Mihara, now a resident of North Platte. Mihara a Japanese high school lad who is said to be one of the leading players in his section.

Two Omaha veteran racqueteers are paired up for the doubles—Ralph Newell and T. F. "Spike" Kennedy. Newell, paired with Davis won the Omaha city team event. Kennedy and Art Scribner were the runnersup.

Fast Junior Competition.

The junior competition also promises to be keen. Headlining the list are Al Finkel and Gordon Diesing of Omaha. Finkel won the state title last year while Diesing was runnerup.

Alfred Calvert of York will also factor in the titular fight. He looked good in the interscholastic tournament held at the university last spring and has been improving throughout the season. Another high school champion to enter is Maurice McAvoy of Fairmont. He is county high school champion and has been disposing of the seniors in his territory with surprising regularity.

Ben Stilphen and J. D. Ringwalt, two Omaha boys, who have been going across big in the Sioux City junior tourney are also entered. Bill Marshall and Stanton Kennedy are another Omaha team to enter the lists.

Tom Elliott, brother of Don, plans to come down from West Point for the tourney.

Lincoln juniors who will compete include Sig North, Mark Crewdson, Kermit Yetter and Leon Thomas.

Lincoln Quartet to York.

A quartet of Lincoln tennis players will journey to York Thursday afternoon for a dual match with a team made up of York and Aurora players.

Following the state tournament, the Lincoln tennis team plans a series of inter-city matches with Seward, York, Hastings and Omaha.

HERE AND THERE IN BASEBALL

Josh Has Them Hustling.

Making pace, 6 to 2, the first two-thirds of the journey, our Links were licked Tuesday, 9 to 6, by virtue of Tulsa's six-run assault on Pitcher Beck in the sixth frame. But the Links were out there hustling and battling for the ball game, which salves the defeat. Tulsa scribes have joined in the refrain first sounded by writers at Wichita and St. Joseph. "The Links are nobody's setup and would go in any league." That's the daily story as Manager Josh and his athletes make their swing around the southern arc of the league circle. How different from the yarns flashed back to Lincoln early in the season!

Pug Griffin, graduate of Lincoln sandlot baseball, is pursuing the pastime with the Dallas Texas leaguers this summer and going at a satisfactory clip. The latest batch of Texas loop averages credits Pug with the comfortable average of .345, which ties him for fifth place in the individual swatting table. The Texas circuit recently split its season and Pug's team is setting the pace for the second race, with Fort Worth, last year's flag-winner, hot on the Dallas club's heels.

Lefty Fussell, former semi-pro twirler in Nebraska independent circles, is serving his slants for the Wichita Falls club in the Texas league. His team is tied for fourth place in the pennant campaign, but Lefty is front-running his club with a record of ten victories and seven defeats.

Monday's Des Moines-Wichita game in the Kansas burg was reeled off in 75 minutes. The home bugs liked it, as the Isbells won.

Oklahoma City writers are pounding away at Umpires Hayes and Gaffney, conferring the title of Jesse James on Hayes and Henry Starr on Gaffney. All over the circuit, with the one eception of Omaha, Hayes and Gaffney have been put on the frying pan, yet League Prexy Tearney assures us that the critics of these two arbiters are merely giving an exhibition of dense ignorance; that Hayes and Haffney are rated as two of the most efficient umpires in all the minor leagues. Prey Al, of course, is letting his head rattle when he talks that way. The nearest he has come to scanning the work of the Hayes-Gaffney duo is to lounge in a rocking chair in his Chicago cabaret.

Links No Longer Joke.

Tulsa World: The Links are not the joke of any league at this writing. There are a number of new faces, including the chubby physiognomy of Joshua Clark, who has supplanted Howard Wakefield as manager, and the newcomers apparently are more adept in the gentle art of pestering the noble agate than were the boys who have been given the gate.

Stokes Disobeyed Orders.

Tulsa dispatch to Des Moines Register: Disobeying of Manager Corriden's orders by Art Stokes was one of the primary causes of Des Moines' third straight defeat at the hands of the Tulsa Oilers. With two men down and Lelivelt on second, the manager ordered Flippin walked to get to Voigt, who had appeared weak in the hitting role throughout the day.

Stokes apparently thought he knew more than Corriden, one of the smartest baseball men in the game today, and used his own judgment with the result that Flippin hit a home run and sent the count 5 to 2 in Tulsa's favor and the two runs that Des Moines scored in the eighth inning did nothing more than make it close.

Foiling the Bandits.

Oklahoma City Oklahoman: Perhaps the most disappointed individuals among the scores of disappointed Monday were Jesse James Gaffney and Henry Starr Hayes, the prize baseball hijackers of Cabaret Al Tearney's umpiring staff.

Inning after inning went by with no chance on close decisions to display either their ignorance or their impudence.

Moreover, being just as peeved at Denver as at Oklahoma City, they hardly knew which way they would flop.

They compromised by Jesse James Gaffney calling many a strike a ball or. Freeman, while Henry Starr Hayes threw his hooks into the Indians when he declared Kahdot out on a close play when the little Indian attempted to steal second.

Yanks Still Making Race.

Still setting the pace, the Yankees today continue to show the way to Detroit by a full game in the American league flag chase. By coming to life to annex the final from the pesky Athletics, to whom they had dropped two in a row, the Tigers held their own. Washington slipped a notch through its loss o Cleveland and now pursues Cobb's outfit at a distance of a game and a half.

Although Pennock has seen better days on the hurling hill, the effective hitting of his teammates carried him along to an easy 9 to 4 victory. In clouting his thirty-second homer of the season and his thirteenth of the month, Babe Ruth tied his best previous monthly average, established in June, 1921, the year he set his home run record of 59.

Detroit tied the score in the ninth and won out in the eleventh, 4 to 3. Airtight pitching by Shaute enabled Cleveland to gallop away with a 4 t 2 win from Washington.

Murray and Workman of Boston had the misfortune to lose to St. Louis, 3 to 0, despite the fact that the Browns obtained only three bingles off their combined delivery.

Pitcher Poles Two Homers.

Batting even better than he pitched, Arthur Nehf of the Giants beat the Cardinals practically single-handed, 5 to 2. Nehf clouted out two home runs.

Six hits and three runs were the measure of the Phillies' offensive against Kaufmann and the Cubs walked off with a 4 to 3 decision.

While Kremer held Boston to three hits, Pittsburgh hammered out an 8 to 1 triumph over the Braves.

Brooklyn leads Cincinnat by only a game and a half today as a result of its their loss to the Reds in five games. The westerners got 12 runs against the Robins' 2.

THE ? BOX

Q: High fly is hit to right field. Fielder gets under the ball, but then loses it in the sun and dodges away from the ball. How would you score such a play?—H. H. Ulysses, Neb.

A: A base-hit by the batter—in all cases. Outfielder is entitled to a fair chance. When blinded by the sun, he does not have a fair chance. Whether blinded or not by the sun, a misjudged fly is a base-hit. Don't be afraid to score base-hits. In case of the slightest doubt, score ahit.

Browns Appeal From Ruling of St. Louis Court

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 30.—Indications that the fight of the Dodier Realty and Investment company, of which Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, is president, to oust the Cardinals from use of Sportsmen's park, is to be carried to a finish, were shown today when permission was given the Brown's attorneys to appeal to the Missouri supreme court.

The Cardinals recently were granted a permanent injunction preventing the Dodier company from cancelling the ten-year lease to the ball park.

The Dodier company maintains the Cardinals forfeited their lease by failing to comply with its provisions.
